Allied Air Forces Swarmed Back To The Battle Front

Attack Reds Massed Northwest Of Taegu; Grounded Two Days By Lashing Rains

By Milton Marmor

TOKYO, Sunday, Sept. 10—(AP)—The Korean Communists today applied new pressure on the northern front where American and South Korean forces yesterday closed a five-mile gap opened by Red tanks.

Despite the pressure the northern front defending the strategic base of Taegu was described as "relatively quiet" by Associated Press correspondent Leif Erickson at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters.

Some of the Red heat on Teagu was cooled by the closing of the breach in the line between Yongchon and Kyongju northeast of Taegu.

Hammers American Positions

But the Reds still were a continuing threat to the South Korean provisional capital from the north. Powerful forces there have been hammering incessantly at American ridge positions seven miles above Taegu.

The allied air force swarmed back to the battlefront at dawn today with only a medium overcast to hinder the harassment of Red troops and supply lines.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said bad weather limited sorties to 200 yesterday—only 187 in close support of ground troops. The Reds took advantage of every respite in the aerial assault to move men and supplies to their deeply bled divisions.

Erickson also reported a Sunday morning quiet over the southern front with the Reds still holding battle mountain—won again Saturday at heavy cost. The bitterly contested height dominates the approaches to Masan. Masan is the gateway to the all-important supply port of Pusan, 27 air miles east of Masan.

Quiet Over Battle Ground

The general quiet that had fallen over the entire Korean battleground since Saturday's blazing actions on the north and south was reflected in the absence of headquarters summaries. Both General MacArthur's and Eighth Army headquarters skipped their Saturday night and Sunday morning announcements.

Associated Press Correspondent Jack MacBeth quoted a briefing officer at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea as saying, however, the Reds were organizing a "major buildup" in the Hyonpung bridgehead.

Hyonpung, 14 air miles southwest of Taegu, is on the north flank of the U. S. Second division.

Crossing Naktong River

The briefing officer said the Korean Communists were crossing the Naktong river in large numbers.

The sector north of the reported buildup was reported "quiet" during the night. That sector is defended by the 27th British brigade and the U. S. First Cavalry.

The spokesman confirmed the linkup of United Nations forces on Youngchon road and said the South Korean Eighth division was still pushing northeast of Yongchon.

Grounded for two days by rains that lashed the entire front, allied warplanes soared back into action as skies cleared late Saturday. They concentrated their fire on Reds massed northwest of Taegu.

The gap in the United Nations northern defense wall was snapped shut by South Korean troops

Former Representative Thomas Free On Parole

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—Former Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) goes free this week-end on parole after nine months in prison for cheating the government by padding his office payroll.

The federal parole board announced today it has granted the clemency for the man who gained national attention as chairman of the House un-American Activities Committee.

Dr. George G. Killinger, board chairman, said the 55-year-old Thomas "is in very poor physical condition." This, he said, was a factor in the parole, as was Thomas' good work and conduct record.

Six Secret Indictments

Returned By County Grand Jury At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9—(AP)—Most of "about 20 individuals responsible for organized crime" here the last five years have been indicted on gambling charges, A Jackson County grand jury said today.

The jury made its final report and returned six secret indictments. It noted that previously it has returned gambling indictments against 26 persons in addition to indictments on other offenses.

The report expressed belief that its actions and that of a federal grand jury have been a "reterrent to the individuals who might undertake to resume their illegal activities."

The county grand jury said it had investigated closely charges made in an interim report of the federal grand jury. But it pointed out that the federal report, stating that gambling operations were amounted to 34½ million dollars a year, "included statistics relating to such widely scattered cities as Wichita, Kas., Council Bluffs, Ia., Omaha, St. Joseph, Mo., and other areas x x x not within the investigating power of this body."

The jury asserted it had determined the "last chance" gambling game on the state line at Southwest Boulevard in Kansas City was on the Kansas side of the line.

Shows "Clean House"

Circuit Judge Ray G. Cowan, who received the report said it shows "We can clean our own house."

One purpose in calling the grand jury, he said, was to try and "get over to the country at large that we are not as bad as the press outside" has indicated.

"We do have a good place to live and we want to keep it that way."

The jury said it made "a careful investigation of the Kansas City police department and it found no evidence of corruption, except in those instances where suspicion had been directed to individual members of the department. x x x

In this connection, the jury reports that it brought one indictment and that other instances brought to the attention of the jury were referred to the board of police commissioners.

"The jury further reports that replacement of the previous board of police commissioners by the present board did much to eliminate suspicion directed toward the department."

The entire board was replaced by Gov. Forrest Smith after the slaying of Charles Binaggio and Charles Gargotta last April 5.

Condemned "Tax Fixing"

The grand jury condemned alleged tax fixing in the administration of George R. Clark, former county assessor, and criticized acceptance of "so-called gratutities and tips" by deputy sheriffs.

The grand jury called an action of Clark in one case cited as "vicious, wanton and ruthless" and said it would have indicted in that case except for a one-year statute of limitations.

The jury said it "uncovered evidence indicating that certain employes in the assessor's office were using their knowledge and authority to carry on a tax fixing racket with outside accomplices, victimizing certain taxpayers.

The jury desired to return indictments "in a number of cases involving employes of the assessor's office" but it was "unable to obtain certain connecting testimony and other positive information now in the hands of federal authorities."

Two Sets Of Brothers Five Each Into Army

By The Associated Press

Five brothers in Utica, N. Y., and another five brothers in the little town of Vermont, Ill., are going into the Army on Monday.

Both sets of brothers belong to National Guard units called to active duty.

The Utica brothers are the Leones—Sgt. First Class Francis A., 29; Sgt. First Class John L., 23; Cpl. Anthony C., 21; Pfc. Michael R., 19, and Pvt. Robert R., 18.

The Illinois brothers are Sgt. George E. Buoy and his brothers, Sgt. Otis E., Claire H., Eldon and John. Their ages were not available.

In World War II, Francis Leone served in the Pacific theater with the 27th Army division and his brother John was with the Seabees, also in the Pacific area.

Three of the Buoy brothers are World War II veterans—George, Otis and Claire. Claire was reported missing several months while a prisoner of the Japanese.

Stream Lined Training For New Soldiers

Sparked By Korean War Veterans For Battlefront Action

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—The Army is using a stream-lined training program, sparked by Korean war veterans, to ready new soldiers for the battlefront.

Details of the program were outlined today by General Mark W. Clark, chief of the army field forces, in a statement distributed by the department of defense.

"Army training in the United States has been accelerated in tempo and toughened in character with the view to producing thoroughly trained soldiers in the shortest possible time," Clark said.

Under a new directive, he reported, every trainee—no matter the type duty he may get—is subjected to 14 weeks of training in infantry fighting tactics. After that he gets a brush-up as a member of a unit operating under battle conditions.

In this latter phase, special instruction teams in various weapons and tactics take a hand. These teams include combat veterans of the Korean campaign, Clark said.

Clark did not say how long the new training program takes but he did say that it "substantially" reduces the 36 weeks formerly required to complete the training of one unit.

Although the accent is on Korean fighting condition, Clark indicated that the possibility of other conflicts elsewhere is not being overlooked.

VA Rules For Second GI Loan Guaranty

May Be Restored For Reasons Of Veterans Health

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—The Veterans Administration today announced rules for obtaining a second GI loan guarranty.

The new regulation interprets the housing act of 1950. This law authorized VA to restore rights to VA guaranteed loans to veterans who already had used that entitlement to buy property, only to lose it later through:

The Rules

1. Acquisition for public use.
2. Destruction by fire or other natural hazards.
3. Disposal because of "other compelling reasons devoid of fault on the part of the veteran."

"A further condition," VA said, "is that VA must have been relieved of liability in connection with the government guaranty on the loan with no claim having been made against it."

VA said the loan guaranty right may be restored for reasons of health, as when a veteran disposed of his home because the type of dwelling or the climate was injurious to his or his family's health. A doctor's certificate would be required in such a case.

Several Reasons for Loan

It also may be restored when a veteran is transferred by his employer to a new location, or has to move to another locality because of loss of employment, or moves for some other reason not anticipated at the time of purchase.

"Loss of temporary employment, or persons subject to an employers' rotation policy—as in the case of regular military personnel transferred periodically—do not qualify," VA said.

The agency added that entitlement cannot be restored where the veteran's mortgage debt is assumed by a third party with VA remaining liable on the loan guaranty.

Rescue 116 Men In Mine Disaster

By Harold K. Milks

NEW CUMNOCK SCOTLAND, Sunday, Sept. 10—(AP)—The last of the known survivors of the New Cumnock Mine disaster were brought to the surface early today.

Officials at the pithead said that 116 men had been rescued after being trapped nearly two days at the bottom of a 720-foot pit by a cave-in.

The rescued men, dirty, tired and worn, wore grotesque gas masks and respirators to crawl through a barrier of poisonous coal gas before making their way to the top of the Knockshinnoch Castle mine.

One Dead Another Is Serious From Fight

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9—(AP)—George Davis, 57, an interior decorator, was killed and Albert McGinnis, 28, a Washington university medical student, was seriously injured today in a fight with an ice pick.

Their landlady said the fight started when McGinnis complained of Davis' door slamming.

McGinnis told police Davis stabbed him in the chest with the ice pick. McGinnis said he then grabbed the pick out of Davis' hand and drove it into him several times.

Police said McGinnis charged that Davis had been drinking. No charges have been filed.

State Election In Maine On Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—The Maine state election Monday with the Korean crisis figuring in the congressional races will launch the busiest political week before the November general elections.

The next day seven states from New England to the far west will hold primaries to choose candidates for five Senate and 41 House seats and six governorships

Senators Carl Hayden (D-Ariz) and Charles W. Tobey (R-NH) face tough intra-party contests in their bids for renomination. Senators Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo); George D. Aiken (R-Vt), and Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash) have no primary challengers.

Besides the seven state primaries—including Michigan and Minnesota gubernatorial and House races—Mississippi Democrats will conduct a run-off primary in the 3rd congressional district Tuesday.

After that, primaries in Maryland, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Wisconsin later in the month will wind up the writing of major party slates to go before the nation's voters Nov. 7.

Hear Members Of Al Capone Gang Active

The Senate Crime Investigators Are Told By Witnesses

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—Senate crime investigators today heard evidence that many members of the old Al Capone gang still are operating in Chicago and elsewhere.

Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn) told reporters this afternoon the crime committee he heads spent several hours in closed-door questioning of three ex-Capone mobsters.

Unable To Say For Sure

He said the committee learned about "a great many interstate connections" of big-time criminals but added he was unable to say whether members of the gang built up by Capone in prohibition days now are operating as a syndicate.

The committee intends to dig into that further, Kefauver said.

The trio who appeared before the committee, all ex-convicts, were Paul (The Waiter) DeLucia, Louis (Little New York) Campagna and Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe.

Kefauver said their testimony produced a good deal of information about underworld activities in Chicago during the last 25 years "that will be helpful in our investigation."

In response to subpoenas, the witnesses brought along their books and records for the last 10 years. Kefauver said the committee will scrutinize these records later.

Kefauver described Gioe as "a little more forthright in his answers" than either DeLucia or Campagna. He said DeLucia was "rather evasive" and seemed to have "some difficulty in remembering details."

The three men are on parole from 10-year prison sentences imposed after their conviction in 1944 in connection with a $1,000,000 extortion plot against the motion picture industry.

Kefauver said more witnesses from Chicago may be grilled privately by the committee next week and others may be called from Philadelphia for questioning.

The committee has announced plans to hold public hearings in both Chicago and Philadelphia but no time has been set.

President Creates A Wage-Price-Production Agency To Steer Nation

A Mighty Defense Program That May Last Many Years At 30-Billion Annually

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—President Truman tonight set up a powerful new wage-price-production control system to steer the nation through a mighty defense program that may last for many years and cost far more than $30,000,000,000 (B) annually.

Warning that the fight against Communist aggression will demand sacrifices from every American, the President declared that price and wage controls will be imposed "vigorously and promptly" if either wages or prices get out of hand.

And he served notice that industry "to the extent necessary" will have to stop making some civilian goods and begin turning out military equipment.

Steps To Spur Production

In a radio-television address to the nation, the chief executive called for these further steps to spur production, keep inflation in check and put the mobilization program on a pay-as-you-go basis:

1—Higher taxes for everybody. Mr. Truman said his call for a $5,000,000,000 (B) rise in income taxes is "only the first installment." He asked an excess profits tax to make sure nobody will "get rich out of this emergency."

2—Harder work and longer hours for everybody.

3—No pay raises beyond those needed to keep up with the cost of living.

4—An all-out drive by industry to produce more goods by better methods. The President said the national economy should top the $30,000,000,000 (B) a year goal he has set for 1954.

5—No hoarding by individuals or by industries.

Symington Is Chairman

To coordinate the whole program and settle policy conflicts, Mr. Truman named W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, Symington thus becomes an economic policemen over the economy.

Mr. Truman did not name the man who will head the economic stabilization agency, which will be independent.

In another executive order, the President laid the basis for possible price controls by ordering most of the nation's business men to keep records of their prices and costs between last May 24 and June 24.

He acted under the economic powers bill which he signed yesterday. This gives him the power to put price ceilings on individual items if he finds that (1) the price has risen "unreasonably" above the May 24-June 24 level or threatens to do so, and (2) the increase materially affects living and defense costs.

Speaks In Solemn Words

In solemn words, Mr. Truman declared:

"By next June, under our present plans, we expect to be at the rate of at least $30,000,000,000, (B) a year.

"In the year after that, we

Truman Has Twin Crises On His Hands

Cabinet Controversy At Home, A Military Predicament Abroad

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—President Truman had twin crises on his hands tonight—a cabinet controversy at home, a military predicament abroad.

At home, there loomed the definite possibility that the storm center of the cabinet quarrel, Defense Secretary Louis Johnson, might move out. The only formal action necessary would be White House acceptance of the resignation which all cabinet members file when they take office.

In Korea, American and other United Nations troops fought desperately to hold massive and continuing thrusts of the Red army in a war which after eleven weeks was still running against the defenders.

Can Help One; Not The Other

Whether there was a relationship between the crisis, as was charged in some quarters, and if so how much, was not clear. Mr. Truman seemed to be in position to do something about one, but not about the other.

The Communist high command controlled the latter. They continued to pour in manpower to press their unrelenting offensive in Korea.

There isn't any speculation in Washington now about when a general counteroffensive can be launched. The immediate and pressing problem is to hold the line against the terrific Red onslaught.

All this was cheerless news for Johnson's friends who thought that a military victory in Korea now could save him, could ease pressure for his resignation.

The most recent of the demands for Johnson's resignation from the job to which he was appointed by Mr. Truman in March, 1949, came from the Marine Corps League. A resolution of the league's convention yesterday demanded Johnson's ouster. It linked the Korean troubles with Johnson.

But a White House confidant, in predicting that Johnson was on the way out, did not set this forth as the reason. He traced it to the quarrel, the maneuvering for strength between Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Acheson. This situation, of course, is much older than the Korean war.

Concerned Over Reports

This White House aide said that the President was willing to defend an appointee against outside attacks, but he was concerned over reports of defense department criticism of his secretary of state. Then this confidant of Mr. Truman added:

"The President feels that Secretary of State Acheson has borne up in this case with supreme dignity and will remain in the cabinet after Johnson has gone."

He thought Johnson would make his departure sooner than most people expected.

At the Pentagon, there was official silence about all this.

However, there were little, intangible things to show that the strain was beginning to show on the big, usually hearty and affable Johnson. Reporters who met him a few days ago found him silent, answering questions in monsyllables or not at all.

Johnson Denies Dispute

To answer his critics Johnson has:

1. Denied publicly that he was in dispute with Acheson.

2. Denied categorically that the strategic policies and economies of the defense establishment brought about military weakness.

But his critics still insist on remembering pre-Korean statements attributed to him that the United States was fully prepared to cope with any "four o'clock in the morning" attack by an enemy and to beat the enemy.

As usually happens when rumors of resignation are current, there was immediate speculation about a successor. The first rash of such speculation brought several names, including: Robert Lovett, former under secretary of state and assistant secretary of war for air during world war II; Army Secretary Frank Pace, former budget bureau director; Senator Millard Tydings, Maryland Democrat and chairman of the Senate armed services committee.

U. S. Supports International Military Force

President Approves 'Substantial Increase' For Western Europe

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—President Truman approved today "substantial increases" in U. S. military forces in western Europe and called on this country's Atlantic Pact Allies to "match our reactions in this regard."

By announcing his decision, the President served notice in advance on next week's big three and Atlantic treaty meetings that this nation is now ready to support fully and participate in the organization of a great international military force to defend Western Europe against Russia.

Part Of Over-All Policy

The approval of troop increases is but part of an over-all policy worked out by Secretary of State Acheson and Defense Secretary Johnson and okayed by Mr. Truman for creating this force in cooperation with the allied countries.

The President made clear that what this country does in carrying out his decision will depend on the extent to which the other nations carry forward their own rearmament and troop increase programs.

American policy also provides that an American may eventually head the West's combined armies.

As part of the over-all policy, reliable informants said, the U. S. is prepared to join in steps toward creating a unified high command, beginning with a central planning staff—and desires the use of German military units as part of the international force.

All these lines of future development will be considered by Acheson with British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman in the big three conference opening Tuesday in New York. Later the proposals will figure in meetings of the Atlantic Council there Friday and Saturday.

Strength Now 100,000

The President did not say how large were the increases he had authorized. Authoritative information is that Acheson and Johnson had recommended enlarging the present American force of one division plus constabulary by five to 10 divisions more.

Latest published figures, now a year old, indicate that the American army strength in Europe is around 100,000. Of this total, about 85,000 are believed to be in Ger-

Koreans in White Flee Communism

By Bill Ross
(For Hal Boyle)

KOREA—(AP)—Among the thousands of white-clad refugees streaming down mountains and valleys in the path of the Korean war is one of the largest religious migrations of our time.

It is made up of Korean Christians fleeing from communism. They come from tiny hamlets among the saw-toothed ridges. They come from Korea's overcrowded cities.

But the religious migrants all have the same purpose—to escape the overpowering restrictions that communism would place on their rights to worship as they please.

Headquarters of this massive pilgrimage is a Korean city which can not be identified. More than 200 Christian ministers have taken sanctuary here.

But the preachers of the gospel did not come alone. Many brought their congregations. Army officials estimate that more than 20,000 refugees here are religious migrants who fled before the Red invasion.

Leader of the Moses-like mass of homeless persons is an American-educated Baptist minister He is a native Korean who graduated from Princeton University. Because many of his family and associates are in Communist held territory, he must use an American name, Dr. Henry N. Park.

Helps Countrymen

After Dr. Park finished Princeton, he attended the Baptist seminary at Louisville and after graduation returned to Korea.

Here he was busily engaged in religious teachings as well as helping his countrymen achieve a better standard of living—that is, until that fateful day of June 25 when the Communist invasion began.

Dr. Park immediately pulled up stakes. He knew that Christians could not live with communism. He had been told as much by Korean Reds in his own city. They offered him the choice of staying in his home and embracing communism or leaving. Dr. Park—and many of his flock—left.

They made their way south, always just a step ahead of the onrushing Reds until the United Nations line of defense was established. The little band ultimately was joined by some 200 other ministers and their congregations who spontaneously came to the same conclusions as Dr. Park regarding Christian faith under the hammer and sickle.

Each morning the ministers gather most of their flocks and pray for an early United Nations victory in Korea so they can go home and live in peace.

An official Army guide says this embattled land has about 30,000,000 population and that Confucianism, Buddhism, Shintoism and Christianity are all followed as religions but that "Christianity is said to exert the most influence."

The Korean Christian pilgrimage would seem to bear this out.

Miss Arkansas, five-foot, six-inches tall, weighing 120-pounds, with black hair and hazel eyes, was a popular entry in last night's talent preliminary, although she did not win any honors. A lyric soprano, she has been studying voice and dramatics.

Miss Jennings has a 36½-inch bust and a 24-inch waist.

Tonight's preliminaries are the last before the final judging for the beauty title.

Miners Are Rescued From Mine Shaft

116 Of The 128 Who Have Been Buried Are Now Top Side

NEW CUMNOCK, Scotland, Saturday, Sept. 9 —(AP)— Brawny rescue workers bored through solid coal Friday and freed at least 116 of 128 miners trapped underground for more than 24 hours, reports from the rescue crews said.

The 116 men were taken to an adjacent pit to rest before being assisted to the surface. The general manager of the Knocksh-innoch Castle Coal Mine said they were "all in the best of fettle."

"In Good Spirits"

The British press association said that "reports reaching the surface at 2 a. m., were that the main body of trapped men—116 of them—were well and in good spirit. The total leaves 12 men not yet accounted for."

The miners were entombed 720 feet underground Thursday night by an avalanche of mud and peat. Since then rescue teams had dug tirelessly to reach them.

One of the rescue workers, Hugh Blackwood, 45, collapsed an died while helping others dig through the huge cave-in.

The men were caught when a rain-soaked surface as large as a foot-ball field caved in. Hundreds of workers on the surface sought to prevent other cave-ins by blocking the bottom of the crater formed when the earth collapsed into the mine diggins.

"Thrown Into Hole"

Haystacks, coal cars, masses of lumber and newly-cut trees were thrown into the hole.

Relatives of the trapped men, from this mining town of 6,000 persons, 30 miles south of Glasgow, stood around the pithead in grim-faced, whispeering groups.

King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, who are at their Scottish castle in Balmoral, asked to be kept informed of rescue developments.

5-Year Old Suffers Severe Laceration

Ethel Mae North, five-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William North, 608 East Twenty-sixth street, received a severe laceration on the instep of her foot Friday afternoon while playing at her home.

She had been playing around her home when she jumped on a coffee can which cut her foot.

Ethel was taken to the Woodland hospital where Dr. R. A. Enochs treated her. It was necessary to take twelve stitches in the girl's foot.

Home Is in the Mill

DECATUR, Georgia — (AP) —A professor and his wife have a new home in an old grist mill here. Dr. Stephen W. Gray is professor in Emory University, his wife is an instructor.

The old mill they are turning into a home was built in 1830. Its great oak beams and stone foundations are still sound. The couple has done most of the work of remodeling themselves although they have had the help of some of their students.

The building, four miles from Decatur, housed a mill that was important in turning out supplies to the Confederate Army during the Civil War.

It Adds So Much to the Joy of Living!

You walk out of the house, and there it stands—waiting for you in the driveway.

You've seen it hundreds of times before—but it's so attractive, there in the sunlight, that you stop instinctively for a second look.

The sun lights up the gleaming chrome and frames the whole gorgeous picture. The soft finish shimmers in the shadows. A pattern of hand-tailored fabric shows through the open window. And there's the beautiful steering wheel—inviting you in.

Yes, it's a lovely day! And the next thing you know, you're out in traffic—and the powerful, soft-throated engine is gliding you along as if by automatic propulsion.

You ride so softly and quietly and easily that judging time and distance is the hardest work you do!

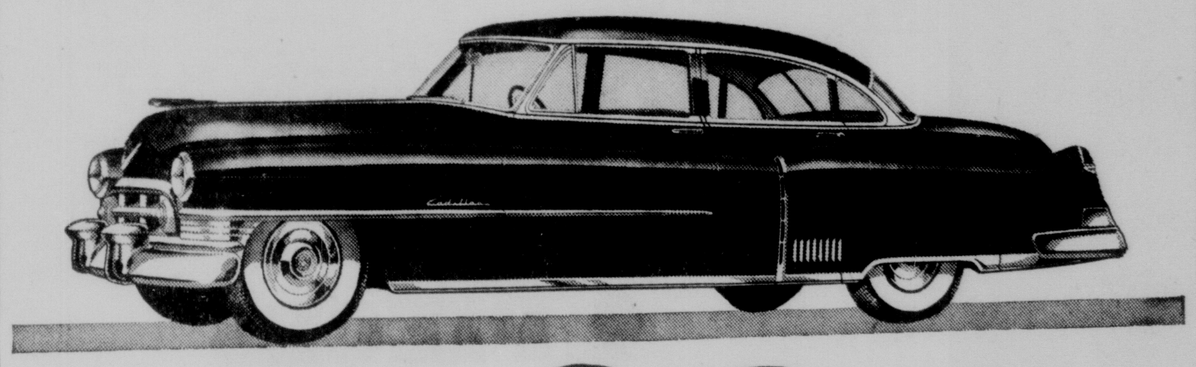

The lights turn red and the lights turn green—the hills and valleys flow under the wheels . . . and every stretch of highway ahead is a study in enchantment.

Though you take to the highway ten times a day, each trip is a thrill all over again. You thrill to its beauty, the way it rides, the way it behaves, the way it handles—and, being human, you like the admiring glances which other motorists toss your way.

Happiness, as everyone knows, is a state of mind—but it is aided and abetted by your satisfaction with the things about you.

And this we can promise for Cadillac: It will add to your satisfaction every mile you drive. Many say it enriches their lives to an unbelievable degree.

Why not get one for your happiness—today?

Turbosupercharger Will Save On Fuel

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 9—(AP)—A new turbosupercharger which will enable piston-powered airliners to fly non-stop from Chicago to London—4,000 miles—with heavy payloads was announced tonight by the General Electric Company.

The firm's Aircraft Gas Turbine divisions said the new turbo makes possible "dramatic fuel savings, together with great power boosts, when used with piston-powered engines of the latest designs."

Turbosuperchargers, widely used in United States' fighting planes in World War 2, enable airplane piston engines to "breathe" in the rarefied air of high altitude. Spun by the engine's exhaust, they compress the rarefied air to sea level pressures before it enters the cylinders.

Key to the new development, GE said, is design improvement which permits operation of the turbosupercharger under higher exhaust pressures than previously possible.

shall probably have to spend much more than $30,000,000,000 (B).

"We must be prepared to maintain a very strong defense program for many years to come."

Flatly, Mr. Truman said: "All of us—whether we are farmers, or wage earners, or businessmen—must give up some of the things we would ordinarily expect to have for ourselves and our families."

But, he said, this must be done if we are to "build up the strength which the free world needs to deter Communist aggression."

The President's address—his second "fireside chat" in eight days—came only a few hours after he approved "substantial increases" in our military forces in Western Europe and called on the other Atlantic pact nations to do likewise.

"The leaders of Communist imperialism," he said in his broadcast address, "have military forces at their command. They have shown that they are willing to use these forces in open aggression x x x.

Build Up Military Strength

"The free nations have no alternative but to build up the military strength needed to support the rule of law in the world. Only in this way can we convince the Communist leaders that aggression will not pay."

The executive order handed the bulk of Mr. Truman's power to parcel out scarce materials to Secretary of Commerce Sawyer—except that he and other top officers must defer to Symington on major policy issues.

Symington was authorized to settle inter-agency disputes: Prescribe "policy and program directives" with the President's approval; keep tab on the work of the other agencies; advise Mr. Truman on progress; and take such steps as he may feel are needed to coordinate domestic mobilization measures.

Other Officials Named

Besides Secretary Sawyer, these officials were named to wield the priority and allocations power:

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, for food, farm equipment and fartilizer.

The Interstate Commerce Commission was assigned domestic transportation, storage and port facilities, but not air transport or coastal and overseas shipping, which are under Sawyer's supervision.

The executive order authorized the armed forces and other agencies to guarantee loans to war contractors for plant expansion and the financing of war contracts.

The Reconstruction Finance Agency was directed to make loans for plant expansion and for boosting production of needed metals and minerals, while General Service Administrator Jess Larson was authorized to buy needed materials.

Allied Air Forces Swarmed Back To The Battle Front

Communist tank columns had opened the hole earlier in the week.

Yongchon, gateway city to Taegu 20 miles westward, was recaptured by South Koreans Friday from the armor-led Reds who had held it briefly. The ousted Reds poured artillery and mortar fire on the city. The North Korean radio has claimed possession of Yongchon for two days.

Several groups of Reds were pocketed by the forces that closed the Yongchon-Kyongju opening.

Defense "Much Improved"

A U. S. Eighth army spokesman said the situation along the newly restored northern U. N. 25th division infantrymen killed 1,500 of the 3,000 Reds who wrested battle mountain from them Saturday. It was the third time in one day and the 13th time in three weeks the mountain had changed hands.

The Red losses boosted their casualties for the week to more than 15,000 men on the southern front alone, and raised official U. S. estimates of Red losses on all fronts to 27,000 in eight days—about 18 per cent of their estimated 150,000-man force.

There was lesser action on two other Korean fronts.

U. S. First Cavalry troops, defending Taegu on the north and northwest, stood their ground solidly Saturday against constant enemy pressure.

Hold High Ridges

The Americans held high ridges seven miles north of Taegu to which they withdrew Friday before Red assaults down the Kumhwa "bowling alley" corridor from the northwest.

The enemy probed hard all along the line, apparently in an effort to keep the defenders off balance until North Korean reinforcements could be brought up.

Red strikes at U. S. Second division positions west of Yongsan and against British army positions west of Taegu on the Naktong river front were turned back. The defenders lost no ground.

many, about 10,000 in Austria and about 5,000 in Trieste.

Mr. Truman's statement did not make clear from where or how soon the "substantial increases" would be drawn nor indicate their type.

However, this much is evident:

In army troops strength, there now are only two or three divisions left in the United States uncommitted to the Korean war.

It is unlikely that divisions-in-being, ready and equipped for combat, will be drawn for the reserve at home as long as the situation in Korea continues to be uncertain.

May Use N. G. Units

It takes about a year to begin with raw recruits and build them into a complete division of 17,000 men. On the other hand, it would be entirely possible to use National Guard divisions for bolstering the European strength.

This could be an interim procedure, with the National Guard divisions brought home when new regular army divisions are ready.

Speculation on the number of divisions that might be sent to Europe has varied widely. In some military quarters, thinking is that an initial token force of three or four divisions might go first, to be followed by more later.

There seemed to be nothing in Mr. Truman's statement to confine the augmentation of European strength to ground units alone.

The increase could include a boost in air and naval strength, too.

Have Banquet and Installation

The Missouri Pacific Women's club will meet Monday evening, September 18, with a banquet in the Ambassador Room of Bothwell hotel at 6:30 o'clock.

Installation of officers will be held following the banquet with Miss Frances O'Connor, president of the Missouri Pacific Women's club in St. Louis, as the installing officer.

Ray Maxwell, publicity director of the Missouri Pacific Lines in St. Louis, will be the guest speaker.

Reservation for the banquet must be in by Saturday, September 15 and may be made by calling Mrs. Frank Hanigan, telephone number, 929 or Mrs. Gerald Ragland, telephone 3697.

Truman Will Veto Anti-Communist Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—President Truman today underlined his promise to veto the sweeping McCarran anti-Communist bill by rejecting an immigration measure containing some similar provisions.

At the same time, McCarran warned that a veto of his bill might lead to a move to keep lawmakers in session beyond Sept. 16 when they plan to go home.

Mr. Truman told his news concerence that he would not sign the McCarran bill if it was sent to him.

Prospects now are that the bill, in substantially the form that Mr. Truman doesn't want, will reach the White House next Thursday or Friday.

Miss Alabama Is Chosen As Miss America

Jacque Mercer The Miss America Of '50 Crowns New Queen

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 9—(AP)— Brown-haired Yolande Betbeze of Mobile, Ala., was named Miss America of 1951 tonight.

The 21-year-old southern belle, who entered the contest as Miss Alabama received a tremendous ovation from the audience of close to 19,000 persons

Wearing a white evening dress, the five-foot, five and one-half inch beauty walked smiling to the center of the huge stage. She received two dozen American Beauty roses and a regal robe was placed around her snoulders.

Crown Falls to Floor

Last year's Miss America, Jacque Mercer of Phoenix, Ariz., gave her a crown and scepter and crown in the ensuing excitement, the crown fell from Miss Betbeze's head they had to retrieve it from the floor.

Police lined the 100-foot runway, as the new beauty queen walked out above the audience in her red and white robes of office.

The new Miss America has brown eyes, weighs 119 pounds, has a 35-inch bust, a 24-inch waist and 35½-inch hips.

A pre-contest favorite, she was one of the few contestants who won popular acclaim. Even before the judges' decision.

With the title of Miss America, Miss Betbeze wins a $5,000 scholarship, which she said she will use to further her music education.

She also gets a new automobile and a chance to earn $50,000 through personal appearances.

The Runnerups

The runnerup in the finales, in order of their scoring by the judges, also receive scholarship awards as follows:

Miss South Dakota (Irene O'Connor, Burbank), $3,000 scholarship.

Miss Florida (Janet Ruth Crockett, St. Petersburg), $2,500.

Miss Arkansas (Mary Jennings, Hot Springs) $2,000.

Miss Oklahoma (Louis O'Brien, Tulsa) $1,500.

All of the other 11 finalist will receive $1,000 scholarships each.

A special $1,000 scholarship for a non-finalist, showing the best talent, went to Miss North Dakota (Joan Teets, Minot).

The judges, after watching 54 contestants in three days of preliminaries, picked 16 finalists for beauty, personality and talent at the opening of this evening's pageant finale.

The 16 beauties then began a more - than - three - hour ordeal. They paraded before the judges singly and in groups, dressed in bathing suits and evening gowns.

Each contestant also displayed once again the talent she hoped would help her to the coveted crown.

Five of the 16 finalists made the grade as the result of these performances and the paring process continued.

Father-Son Signal

DENVER, Colo. — (AP) — Passengers on the United Airlines' flight rrom Denver to Cheyenne have noticer a train far below them winking its big headlight in the night. Passengers on the 8:15 p.m. Colorado and Southern between the same two two towns have on more than one occasion spotted the huge airliner flying parallel to the track, systematically blinking the lights on its wings. This has been going on for three years now.

The engineer of the train and the pilot of the plane are father and son. The blink-blink of the lights is 64-year-old Clarence Chapman's way of saying "How'er you, boy?" to his airborne son, 31-year-old Capt. Leroy Chapman.

Occasionally the senior Chapman fancies up his nocturnal hello by lighting a red railroad flare and holding it out of his cab. "I'm right proud of my boy," Clarence says.. "And I just like to him to know the old man's still up and around on the job."

Social Events

Mrs. Nadine Blakesley and Charles A. Hopkins, of Otterville, were married at 8:00 o'clock Saturday night, August 26 at the Evangelical and Reformed church in Sedalia. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. William C. Bessmer, pastor of the church.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Oehrke, of Otterville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Oehrke, of Florence and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hopkins, of Otterville.

A supper was given in honor of the couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Wear in Otterville on August 22. Mrs. Leroy Oehrke assisted Mrs. Wear as hostess.

The dining room table was covered with a lace tablecloth and centered with a large angle-food cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The cake was baked by Mrs. Hopkins, mother of the bridegroom.

Those attending were: Glen Young, Billye Ann and Cathy Kruse, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Oehrke and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. James Wear. Mr. and Mrs. William McIntyre were unable to attend.

Kansas Probate Judge Died In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9—(AP)—George Hiram Terrill, of Elkhart, Kas., probate judge of Morton county, died here today at the home of a daughter after an illness of five weeks. He was 89 years old.

Judge Terrill came to Kansas City to visit his daughter, Mrs. Bertha Barker, last month after he won the Republican nomination for another term as probate judge. He had held the office eight years. He formerly served two terms as county attorney of Morton county.

He lived in Elkhart about 35 years. A native of Ohio, Judge Terrill moved with his parents to Bolivar, Mo., in the early 1860s.

Besides Mrs. Barker, survivors included two other daughters, Mrs. Bessie Cullison of Guthrie, Okla., and Mrs. Jessie Storey of Jasper, Mo. Funeral services will be Monday, 2 p. m., at Bolivar. Burial will be at Halfway, Mo.

Still Another Featherweight Title Fight

Pep And Saddler Will Scrap For The World Title Again In Feb.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—(AP)—Willie Pep, the ex-titleholder and Sandy Saddler, the newly re-crowned featherweight champion, will battle it out for the fourth time in February and this time the scrap will be broadcast and televised.

No. 4 in this hot and argumentive fistic feud will be staged in Madison Square Garden, scene of the first two bouts. Both of those tilts were aired and telecast.

Record Crowd

Last night's "rubber" bout was fought before a record paying crowd for "little men" — 38,781 fans and $262,118—in Yankee stadium. There was no radio or T.V. at the insistence of the managers of both fighters.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, incidentally, said the Joe Louis-Ezzard Charles heavyweight title tussle in Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27, "most likely will be broadcast and televised."

From another source it was learned that contracts already had been signed and that a brewing company had paid $200,000 for the air privilege. Louis and Charles will get the same percentage of the T.V. and radio money as they will collect from the gate receipts.

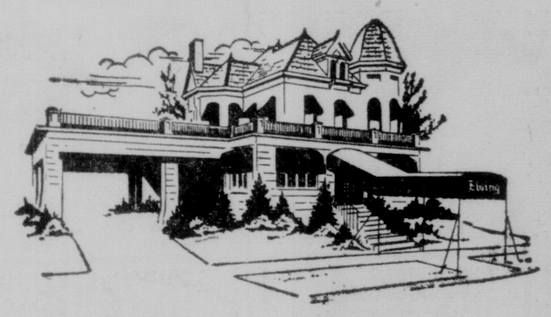

The Brown Bomber will collect about $70,000 and Charles $40,000 before they even step into the ring.

Saddler regained the title in a weird finish last night. Pep dislocated his left shoulder at the end of the seventh round and was unable to continue. Pep was ahead at the time.

Referee Ruby Goldstein signalled the end of the fight after the bell rang for the start of the 8th round. Thus it goes into the records as an eighth round kayo.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, who reset Pep's shoulder in the ring, said the ex-champion was okay now but that he would have to take things easy for about six weeks.

Whip Russia If Necessary Says Stassen

Asserts That Taft Will Win In Ohio Election

WICHITA, Kas., Sept. 9—(AP)—If Communist China sends troops into Korea "I'd consider we are at war with Russia," Harold Stassen said here.

"And if war with Russia should come tomorrow, I'm confident that we would win."

The Republican leader, former governor of Minnesota and now president of the University of Pennsylvania, told press and radio newsmen before a scheduled address here last night.

"It has been clearly demonstrated that none of the (Communist) satellites will do a thing in military policy until Moscow tells them to."

The United States should "announce that we intend to hold the Russians responsible for what their satellites do."

The U. S. should continue to act through the United Nations, "as it did in Korea."

He's against this nation starting a "preventive war" but—

"I you find that the Soviet Union has in fact started world war III," the U. S. should strike quickly from the air with the A-bomb—and the H-bomb "if we have it."

Must Hit Heart

Such attack, he said, "must go to the center of Communist strength—to Moscow and the Urals and the Donets basin."

Russia hasn't thrown the world into conflict, he said, "because of her great fear of air attack—and we are in a position to make it heavy—and because of her fear of unrest and opposition among her own people."

Stassen—a naval reserve commander—smilingly parried questions as to availability of himself or "some military man" for president.

"You mean some general?" he asked quickly—in obvious, good-humored reference to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, now president of Columbia U.

"Or some commander," his questioner persisted.

"No Plans For 52"

"It's too soon to think about '52," Stassen said, adding that he has "no plans for '52."

He said he'll help in Republican campaign speechmaking "in Connecticut, where we have two senators up, and in Ohio, where Bob Taft is up."

"Bob will win in Ohio," he predicted, but wouldn't outline Connecticut prospects.

In Pennsylvania, he added, to a question, Republican "governor (James H.) Duff will win the senatorial contest—and carry the ticket with him."

Style Guide for today's woman

By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

THE SLIM LOOK is very important this season. Of course, just to put on a new suit or dress with these new lines isn't always easily done. After a summer season it is usually necessary to diet and exercise a bit—then consider your underpinnings. By this, we mean new bras, girdles and slips. Shop for the right garments, try them on and see what they do for you. Don't wear a short pantie type girdle if you have a roll around your middle. You must have a smooth waistline—your hips must be slimmed down to fit into the new straighter skirts. Select your slips so they will fit nicely in the waist and hips. Of course, you want room to sit in, but don't buy one with a skirt larger than the outer skirt you will be wearing. From corduroy skirts to afternoon dresses you'll find a slimmer more feminine look.

Sedalia Chiefs Won Ban-Johnson Title

Ralph Waters Makes Switch From Third Base To The Mound And Wins The Game

The Sedalia Chiefs won the Central Missouri Ban Johnson league title Friday night as they defeated the Brookfield Bombers 8 to 4. The game was played at Brookfield on a muddy diamond, to which the Chiefs are accustomed, and each team made five errors.

Since the Chiefs 'shot the works" on Thursday night, with Imhauser doing the pitching and being beaten by a 2-0 score, the management of the locals decided that they would change the line-up as they thought they would have nothing to lose and would be set, if they lost, when Brookfield returned to Sedalia.

Ralph Waters, who has done little pitching although he has "good stuff" was on the mound The Bombers got 10 hits off of him but he did a very good job considering that it was the first game that he had started.

The big blow of the game was Bob Shawver's long grand slam home run in the fifth inning. Carl Barbour and Shawver led the Sedalia batsmen with two hits each. Mundell and Tooey each had two hits for the Bombers.

Waters was in real trouble only once and that was in the eighth inning when the Bombers tallied two runs. Tooey was on the mound for the boys up North and the Chiefs pounded him for eight hits and the same number of runs.

This game ended a very successful season for the Chiefs in league play coming out with the highest honors. The team is now looking ahead for next year. They lose but two of their players, Carl Barbour and Jim Egbert. Barbour is one of the finest cathers in the Ban Johnson league and big Jim Egbert came through with some mighty fine chucking as he bolstered the pitching staff of the Chiefs. His four-hit 2 to 0 shutout Wednesday night was probably the best game of his career.

CC Gets New Regulations On Waterfowl

Few Changes in the Season Nov. 3-Dec. 7 Shortened by 5 Days

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 9—(Special)—The 1950 migratory waterfowl hunting regulations were received this week by the Missouri Conservation Commission from the U. S. Department of the Interior. Missouri regulations are consistent with Federal regulations pertaining to migratory game birds and waterfowl. Copies of Federal regulations can be obtained at all 1st class post offices.

There was little change except that this year's season, November 3-December 7, inclusive, will be 5 days shorter than in 1949. Albert M. Day, director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, explained this reason for the change as follows:

Conditions Not Good

"In the Mississippi flyway, conditions do not appear to be as good as in the other fly-ways. Waterfowl production in Manitoba was noticeably reduced over last year. This, combined with the unimproved conditions in the Canadian Far North, and our northern states, is not very favorable. In addition, during the 1949 season, this flyway had 43 per cent of the hunters and 46 per cent of the kill but only 20 per cent of the birds. All these factors make it imperative that the season be cut back if we are to continue our policy of gearing the harvest to production."

The 1950 season opens in Missouri for ducks, geese, brant and coot at 12:00 o'clock noon on Friday, November 3 to end one hour before sunset on Thursday, December 7. The daily bag and possession limit for geese is 4, including in such limit not more than 2 Canadian geese or its sub species, or 2 white-fronted geese, or one Canadian goose and one white-fronted goose.

Other daily bag and possession limits are: ducks, daily 4 and possession 8, and may include one wood duck only; coot, daily 10 and possession 10; mergansers, 25 singly, or in the aggregate of both kinds, with no possession limit after the opening day of the season. Except for the first day, which opens at noon, shooting may begin at one-half hour before sunrise and closes one hour before sunset. Live decoys and baiting are not permitted to be used, and all persons over 16 years of age must possess a federal duck stamp to take migratory waterfowl.

The season on woodcock opens November 10 and ends December 9, with the daily bag 4, possession 8. Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The season on rails and gallinules opened September 1 and ends October 30, with daily bag and possession limit set at 15. Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Regulations pertaining to above birds restrict the method of take to shotgun only—not larger than 10-gauge—limited to three shell capacity in chamber and magazine combined. The plug must be incapable of removal through the loading end of the magazine. Shooting from autos, motorboats, across or along public highways is prohibited.

Dressed birds, to be transported, must retain the head, head plumage, and feet for identification purposes.

The post-season period for possession of migratory game birds remains the same as in previous years—90 days from season closing date.

Sam Sneed Grabs Lead In Golf Meet

READING, Pa., Sept. 9—(AP)—Sammy Snead sizzled home with a seemingly unbeatable 198 today as he grabbed a six stroke lead at the three-quarter mark of the $15,000 Reading open golf tournament.

The White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., star fashioned his record score with a second straight seven under par 65 to take a commanding lead over Jim Ferrier, Australian-born San Franciscan, who fired a 67 today to pull into second place with 204.

Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N.Y., shotmaker who held the lead at 18 and 36 holes, fell apart today, taking a four over par 76 that gave him a third round total of 208 and put him in fourth place in the tournament behind Ralph Blomquist, Glendale, Calif., and Glenn Teal, Jacksonville, Fla., who tied for theird with 207s.

Snead, leading money winner of the year with $29,392, was at the top of his game today, holing eight birdies and nine pars and only once failing to hit regulation figures—on the 15th, where others came to grief today.

Best known for his long drives, Snead confounded the record book by settling for shorter drives and concentrating on the greens where his putting was magnificant.

Sport Scraps

By D. Kelly Scruton

THE annual fall eclipse—football overshadowing baseball—has started and Sedalia for the "sun season" has produced a Central Missouri Championship team in the Sedalia Shiefs of the CEMO Ban Johnson League, A Junior Legion regional championship team, and now the eyes are turning on Smith-Cotton high school football team to see what the fall season will bring forth.

The past baseball season has been a rough one, decension among the semi-pro players who didn't want to play in Sedalia because of the lack of support by the fans, and the Sedalia Cubs being organized in an endeavor to keep the game on the field. The Cubs under the management of Jack Alpert had their ups-and-downs and did get a team together to finish out the tournament. The team called it quits as soon as the tournament play was over for them.

The Teen-Age Blues had an excellent season and provided some good baseball out on their own diamond at Housel Park. They have been playing hard and the Teen-Agers have some players who are stepping up to Junior Legion and some will probably make bids for the Chiefs.

Certainly the Junior Legion team has given Sedalia good representation in their class of baseball, winning their own league and then taking the Regional tournament without a defeat. Not to mention the District tournament they didn't lose a game in this. Their only block was entering the State Tournament at Sikeston, the losses certainly in the State tournament didn't mean they didn't have a fine baseball team.

Bad weather conditions gave the Chiefs of the Ban Johnson class a hard time, but they finally emerged through the season Southern Division champions, and took over the CEMO title by defeating Brookfield Bombers in the seasonal play-off.

Not failing to mention their fling in the Missouri State Semi-Pro tournament. The Chiefs changed their name to the Sedalia "Whiz Kids" Merchants and sailed on up the ladder in the big tournament to meet the Holcomb Cardinals in the finals. They came out second best in the state tournament, but everyone around here feels hey might have beaten the Cardinals under other conditions—bad weather played its part in upsetting them.

INFLATION—is a word used in many references, financial writing up sports players and so on. It has been a word which I hope will not affect some of the young players in baseball and football. It has affected some in the past and resulted in some heads swelling, and their ego had to be snapped after getting a few years of age on them.

But I hope inflation will not affect Bob Shawver, who I think should be Sedalia 1950 All-Star. In talking with players and managers who have handled him through Junior Legion and Ban Johnson baseball, and even up in school sports, it is a "kid" you can't beat. Certainly Shawver played a big part in helping the Junior Legion to come through this year and I am sure his circuit drive at Brookfield was the hit that won the final game in the Ban Johnson playoffs.

It was called to my attention he hit a homer at Sikeston while with the Legion off of Merritt the Stockton Post Jr. Legion team ace pitcher. Stockton is the second best Junior Legion team in the United States.

School authorities declare he should be a 4-letter man at Smith-Cotton this year. He is playing football, will take over in basketball, and in for track and baseball next spring.

"Don't fear inflation will hit Shawver," one of his recent handlers remarked. "Bob just isn't built that way. He takes his sports serious, he likes them and anything said about him will not bother him at all."

A few shorts on the University of Missouri's football as given out by Bill Callahan, director of the University of Missouri's sports news service recently:—

Gene Ackerman, Missouri end, set four Tiger pass-catching records in 1949. His top marks were 42 pass receptions for the season, nine in a single game against Colorado, 621 yards on passes for the year, and 146 yards on passes in a single game against Ohio State.

—O—

Missouri's 1950 football opener with Clemson in Columbia will mark the 25th year that Memorial Stadium has been the scene of Tiger home games. Missouri and Tulane played a 0-0 decision game at the stadium on October 2, 1926.

—O—

There have been 23 head football coaches in Missouri's athletic history, and Coach Don Faurot—starting his 13th season as Tiger grid boss in 1950—holds the longest tenure.

—O—

Paul Christman, Missouri's All-American a decade ago, still holds nine passing and total offense records on the Tiger books.

—O—

Seven of Missouri's nineteen lettermen who return for the 1950 football season are World War II veterans.

—O—

If Ed Stephens' luck holds out in 1950, the Missouri Tigers can look forward to a winning football season. The veteran halfback is shooting for his fourth grid letter—and his fourth bowl trip. He was a member of the 1945 Cotton Bowl squad, and made the 1948 and 1949 Gator Bowl treks.

Cards Lose First Game

Second Half Of The Twi-Night Series Was Called In 2nd

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9—(AP)—Four straight doubles, a sacrifice and then a single in the eighth were good for four runs, enabling the Pittsburgh Pirates to come from behind to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 tonight in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. Bill Howerton got three doubles for the Redbirds, Ralph Kiner two for Pittsburgh.

The second game was called after 1½ innings because of rain. It can't be played tomorrow because a doubleheader already is scheduled.

Can't Play Monday

Cardinal officials said it can't be played Monday, either, because both teams take to the road. Pittsburgh is slated for New York Tuesday and the Cardinals for Philadelphia the same day.

"You might say it's cancelled, as of now, unless we find a way of fitting it into the schedule later," a Redbird spokesman declared. "But the schedule doesn't seem to offer any possibilities."

Pittsburgh was leading 2-0 when the rains came. The Cards had a man on first with none out.

It rained off and on in St. Louis most of the day, but still the event drew an official attendance of 13,527.

Dickson Defeats Former Mates

Winner of the first tilt was Murry Dickson, who gave up 10 hits .The loser, Howard Pollet, had held the Pirates to four hits in seven innings.

Then came the disastrous eighth when the first three men to face him doubled. They were Bob Dillinger, Tom Saffell and Kiner.

Ted Wilks came in and was promptly greeted by Wes Westlake's double.

The Pirates had been trailing 3-1 at that point. Enos Slaughter drove in two of the Redbirds' runs, Pollet and Howerton one each.

Aggies Scrimmage With Freshmen

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 9—(AP)—The Oklahoma Aggies were pushed through a tough scrimmage session today against the freshmen squad in preparation for the Arkansas game in Little Rock, Sept. 23.

Coach J. B. Whitworth worked most of his regulars overtime against an ever-changing lineup of frosh.

Two big runners, Arlen McNeil and Wilson Wagner, ran well in the Aggie attack. Wayne Johnson, a broken field specialist, also impressed.

Fullback John Grabko was out of action with minor hurts along with end Ron Shackleton, center Dik Von Drehle and tackle Jim Colvin. All are nursing sprains.

The fish that the Indians showed the Pilgrims how to use as fertilizer was menhaden.

Big 7 Briefs

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 9—(AP)—Missouri's No. 3 varsity outfit fought the No. 1 lineup to a draw today while the No. 2 crew ran roughshod over the No. 4 eleven in the Tigers' first full scrimmage of the season.

BOULDER, Colo., Sept. 9—(AP)—Coach Dal Ward put his University of Colorado Buffaloes through a long scrimmage session today and sophomore Zack Jordan stood out by runnig and passing for four touchdoowns.

Jordan reeled off one 70-yard touchdown run, passed to Roger Williams and Freddie Johnson for two more, and made a short scoring run around end.

Johnson also turned in one 14-yard touchdown gallop and took a pass from Dane Graves for another.

St. Louis and Kansas City Are in W.R.S.T. Finish

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 9—(AP)—Kansas City Union Wire Rope and St. Louis Smack's Candy gained the winner's bracket finals of the men's Western Regional Softball tournament today.

St. Louis beat the Lincoln, Neb., Whistle Bottling Co., 3-2, in a nine-inning game. Kansas City stopped Larry's Tavern of Jefferson City, 4-2, on a seventh-inning homer by Vernon Eaton.

First Game For Tigers Draws Near

First Game Of The Season Will Again Be With Marshall

The opening date for Smith-Cotton Tigers football team has been set back from Thursday, September 14th to Friday, September 15th. This should be much to the advantage of the Tigers because it will give them an extra day of much needed practice. The Marshall Owls, who will be the Bengals opponents have been practicing since August 15, and the local boys didn't get their workouts underway until the latter part of August. Coach Ralph Dow said Saturday afternoon that you couldn't really say that the Tigers had had a real workout with all of the squad present.

Sixty Boys Out

Approximately 60 boys are now out for the varsity and another 30 expected to turn out for Monday's session.

Boys who are showing good signs are as follows:

Quarterbacks — Bill Arnold, Warren King and Junior King.

Fullbacks—Art Conley, and Bob England.

Halfbacks— Don Pummill, Bill McCrary, Ted VanNada, Richard Lanning, Bob Lane, David Lingle, Chas. Walton, Don Potter and Claud Murphey.

Ends—Bob Shawver, Floyd Burton and Eddie Johnson.

Tackles—Bill Wheeler, Hurbert Ford, Tom Menefee, Don Allcorn, Bill Wulf and Bill Mathews.

Guards—Delbert "Whitey" Bryant, Stanley Walch, Jim Phelps, and Dan Brooks.

Centers — Ralph Schulz, Don Rathburn and Leon Nold.

This is definitely not all of the boys but it is the majority of boys who have gotten the inside track for a starting berth. We might have missed a few but if they get out and show that they are deserving, amends will be made in this paper.

Two Passers

The Tigers will have two good passers in Arnold and Keene. Shawver and Ford will do most of the kicking-off, and either Shawver or Arnold will do the punting.

Coach Dow said the Tigers will really have to show their claws this week in all practice sessions because the time is nearing for the opening game.

It is reported that the Owls have several boys returning from last year and might prove to be rough if the Bengals are not in tip-top condition.

Okla.Regulars Win Over 'Scrub' Team

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 9—(AP)—A "white" football squad manned by University of Oklahoma regulars defeated a "red" team, 24-6, here this afternoon in the Sooner's first intra-squad scrimmage.

Passes, break-away running and straight power football figured in the regulars scoring.

Dale Crawford ran 75 yards on a pitchout play for one tally. Leon Heat went 40 yards to the 4 where Buddy Jones went over for another. Frank Silva pushed over from four yards out to get the third, and Jack Santee climaxed a long downfield drive with a touchdown run from the Two.

Tom Gray gained 42 yards on a pass from quarterback Eddie Crowder and then went over from the three on the next play to score the reds' only counter.

Two players were injured in the rough scrimmage. Sophomore guard Bobby Gaut suffered a cut lip and two broken front teeth. Third string quarterback Joe Cunningham was carried off with a severely sprained ankle.

Irish Grid Squad Is In Great Shape

Coach Frank Leahy Remarks That His Team Looks Good

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 9—(AP)—They'll have to catch Notre Dame surging out of the chute this football race because once the rebuilt Irish start rolling, it may be to a fifth straight unbeaten season.

Gone are all-America Leon Hart, Emil Sitko and Jim Martin, along with seven other first stringers who helped Notre Dame to the No. 1 spot in the 1949 Associated Press poll.

But from the wrekage of last graduation day, Coach Frank Leahy has salvaged a super quarterback, a dozen tested performers and a bach of swift, sturdy lads whose anonymity may be short-lived.

"This squad should get better every seven days," significantly appraises Leahy, who likes his first eleven but wonders about his reserves.

It's then a race of time for Notre Dame opposition to reach the glory road by shattering one of of the greatest streaks ever wrought by a collegiate eleven. Since the beginning of the 1946 season, Notre Dame has won 36 and tied two for a defeatless North Carolina, whipped by the Irish last season, 42-6, after a furious start at New York's Yankee Stadium, opens Notre Dame's season Sept. 30 at South Bend.

Schedule

Then the Irish take on, in order, Purdue, Tulane, Indiana, Michigan State, Navy, Pittsburgh, Iowa and Southern California. The finale against the Trojans, who may be Notre Dame's toughest foe, comes after an Irish open date.

Leahy's worries over the North Carolina opener stem not so much from a Tar-heel team which has lost Charley Justice and Art Weiner, but from the wrinkles in his own recondition machine.

Bob Williams, a slick quarterback of the Lujack stripe, is the balance wheel around which Notre Dame's victory drive must purr or sputter. Williams, who is 20—one year older than the Irish squad average—last season completed 83 of 147 passes and was a daring strategist.

The Irish don't look invincible right now but if North Carolina, Purdue or Tulane don't stop them, Leahy's forces could jell in something pretty terrific again.

CMSC Mules Have Slated Ten Games

This is First Time In 15 Years Over Nine Are Scheduled

WARRENSBURG, Sept. 9—(Special)—The Central Missouri State College 1950 football schedule has been revised and includes a full ten-game slate for the Mules. It will mark the first time in over 15 years that the Mules have played more than nine football games in one season. Last year, Coach Page's squad played only eight games.

Four new opponents will appear on the Central Missouri State schedule. The opening game for the Mules will be against the Southwestern College Moundbuilders, and will be the first grid contest ever played between the two schools. The Kansas eleven will visit Warrensburg on the night of Friday, September 15. The following week the Mules travel to Emporia, Kas., to take on College of Emporia.

Play St. Benedicts

On Thursday night, September 28, the Pagemen will tangle with the strong St. Benedict's eleven from Atchison, Kas. This game, which will be played in Kansas City, will take the place of the annual St. Benedict's-Rockhurst College contest which was canceled when the latter school dropped football. Rockhurst College followers are expected to turn out in great numbers to watch the Mules square off with the Ravens, and Hawk rooters will be invited to consider the Central Missouri State eleven as their own team the night of the game. Rockhurst cheer leaders will be invited to lead Hawk cheers along with the Mules own cheering group.

The Mules will close the '50 season on the afternoon of Saturday, November 18 in Warrensburg against another new foe, Bethel College of Newton, Kas. The C.M.S.C. team will play five home games and the same number on the road.

While all the schedule making has been in progess the Mule gridders have been busy with daily three hour practice sessions. Three lettermen have failed to report to Coach Page and it is believed they have entered the service. However, a total of 22 lettermen are still on hand and promise to form the backbone of one of the strongest Central Missouri State teams in many years.

Sept. 15—Southwestern College at Warrensburg, 8 p.m.
Sept. 22—College of Emporia at Emporia, 8 p.m.

New Organization Steps In To Make GI's Feel at Home

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—(AP)—A new organization is taking up where the famed USO left off in the job of making GI's feel at home—at home or abroad.

It's called the Associated Services For the Armed Forces, Inc., which is the United Services Organizations all over again with a few differences.

USO, which during the second world war spent $236,000,000 on GI morale and operated 4,000 servicemen's clubs throughout the world, finally died last January. Death was attributed to malutrition or a lack of funds. The secondary cause, officials said, was civilian apathy in what was then peacetime.

When it passed out of the picture, USO was down to 129 clubs. Three individual member agencies of the old USO—the YMCA, the National Catholic Community Service and the National Jewish Welfare Board—undertook the job of keeping the remaining servicemen's centers open.

Between January and April, or between the death of USO and the beginning of Associated Services, 43 more clubs had to be closed. But then the new organization was formed. Unlike the USO, Associated Services leaves the actual morale operations in the hands of the three member agencies. It acts as a coordinating and fund-raising body on a national level.

Plan More Centers

In April, Associated Services planned to reopen 15 clubs. Then came the Korean explosion in June and the plans were revised. Associated Services is now attempting to reopen 27 of the old servicemen's centers and expand facilities of existing centers.

To date, one has been reopened —on Okinawa, the club in Seoul was lost when the Reds over-ran the capital of South Korea.

At this writing, Associated Services and its member agencies maintain 86 clubs — 70 in this country and 16 in Alaska, the Canal Zone, Germany, Guam, Hawaii, Okinawa, Rome, Puerto Rico and France.

It has not moved into Japan because the Army special services branch has supplied sufficient recreational facilities for troops there. Associated services has no immediate plans for moving into Korea because of the scarcity of shipping space, the fluidity of the fighting and the small theater involved.

At the request of the Defense Department, Associated Services has limited its work to the Servicemen's clubs. There are no immediate plans for reviving the old USO camp shows although small, individual groups have, at times, supplied professional enteretinment at various bases.

The clubs now going vary in size from the ornate $1,000,000 center in Honolulu, which has a swimming pool, gym, restaurants, dormitories and outdoor patios, to the tiny club on Guam. The latter operates out of a single Quonset hut and is run, on a very small budget, by married couples.

Generally, the clubs are similar to the old USO centers but time, progress and five years of peace have brought some changes. Several clubs in this country, for example, maintain day nurseries for the children of GI's whose wives work.

The biggest attendance, officials report, is on nights when the club television set offers boxing and wrestling.

Robert Dechert, Philadelphia attorney, is chairman of Associated Services, which is basing its plans on a $9,600,000 budget for a 16 month period beginning September 1. About $5,000,000 of that money is expected to come from the servicemen themselves who pay for certain club activities and personal services. The rest will be sough in a public fund-raising compaign.

Fall Banquet By 'S' Club Friday Night

Addresses Given And Officers of 1950-51 Elected

Jack Cunningham, speaking to the Smith-Cotton "S" club members at their annual fall banquet and business meeting, Friday night at the Epworth Methodist church, told of his dream for Sedalia, and made suggestions the "S" club could "hitch their wagon to." Mr. Cunningham was introduced to the club members after dinner by Frank Coffman, Jr., retiring president of the club.

Mr. Cunningham, a prominent business man and sportsman, who is comparatively new in Sedalia, stated that it is a growing community with many potentialities. These can be developed, he said, with the help of organizations such as the "S" club. His dream of an enlarged school system, more recreational facilities, more activity in church and civic projects and a set of high ideals and aims for the city. He summarized his talk with a poem entitler, "It's All in a State of Mind," touching on the point that anything can be done if the person believes it can be done.

Need Cafeteria Articles

Dr. Heber U. Hunt, superintendent of public schools, spoke to the group asking for a donation for additional articles for the new school cafeteria at Smith-Cotton. During the business meeting it was decided that $500 from the treasury be used for this project.

Joseph F. Benson, principal of Smith-Cotton high school, spoke to the club members about the new curtains and scenery he hopes to have for his school. A committee composed of Raymond Harmon, chairman, Frank Coffman, Jr., Mrs. Ike Warren, Gregory Aquirre, Jack Delph and Cline Cain were selected to attend to details about the $500 for the cafeteria expenses and to promote monetary projects so a donation may be made for stage props.

Jewish New Year Sept. 12

The New Year known as Rosh Ha-shono and the Day of Atonement known as Yom Kippur are the most solemn days of the Jewish religious year. They are celebrated on the 1st and 10th days of Tishri, the seventh month of the lunar year. They fall on September 12 and September 21, 1950. This Jewish year, 5711, is dated from the traditional date of the creation of the world.

The holidays begin at sundown of the preceding evenings, September 11 and September 20 The Bible explains this custom of the day beginning on the evening before in the first chapter of the Book of Genesis where the text reads: "And there was evening and there was morning, the first day." The ten days between New Year and the Day of Atonement are known as the Days of Penitence and the Sabbath that falls between the two High Holy Days is known as the Sabbath of Repentance. Orthodox and Conservative Jews celebrate two days of Rosh Ha-shono, namely the 12th and 13th, while Reform Jews celebrate only on the 12th.

The new moon was always a sacred day in the life of ancient Israel which was an agricultural nation. The seasons were dependant on changes of the moon and the new moon was greeted as a solemn festival celebrated by special sacrifices, cessation of work and the blowing of the Shofor or ram's horn. The seventh New Moon was especially marked as the New Year because of the sacred number seven.

Mrs. Lloyd Satterwhite played the part of an overworked maid and Mrs. Harry Nagel was cast in the role of a society woman who was indifferent to the work of the church but who was awakened by her conscience, in the person of Mrs. Louise White, to the realization of her obligations as one of God's stewards.

A worship service led by Mrs. R. R. Ramlow opened the meeting. She reported sending eight congratulatory, sympathy and get-well cards during the month. Mrs. Marion Latham, stewardship chairman, presented the play. She also gave a stewardship message.

Mrs. T. J. Flessa, Educational chairman, announced the October program, in charge of Mrs. William Bessmer, Christian Citizenship chairman, would be "The Unfinished business of the Kingdom." She also illustrated through a detailed drawing the symbolism of the rose window of the church. Mrs. Roy Fender, registrar, and Mrs. John Griessen and Mrs. Hubert Smith, circle leaders, gave reports.

The annual election of officers followed with Mrs. Roy Fender and Mrs. Ernest Liebel being elected to the offices of president and secretary, respectively.

The Rev. William Bessmer announced the feature length sound film "Second Chance" will be shown Sept. 17 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the church. This film is rated as one of the best religious films yet produced, dealing with people where they are their truest selves—in daily living. Those who are dissatisfied and uneasy about their works and ways will be persuaded to seek immediately a second chance.

REDS OVER EUROPE—The Communists are losing strength in Western Europe, according to a survey of authoritative sources made by United Press. The Newsmap above gives estimated Communist Party membership in Atlantic Pact nations of Europe in 1949 and 1950. An overall decline of 12 per cent is reported. In addition to figures given, the survey reported Western Germany's Red strength dropped from 300,000 to 200,000 in four years; in the same period in Western Austria it dropped from 150,000 to 140,000, and in Switzerland, from 25,000 to 20,000. Best guesses of Red strength in Spain put the total between 10,000 and 20,000.

Burglar Works Hard But All In Vain

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 9—(AP)—A burglar who broke into the office of Central high school went to a lot of trouble but got nothing for his efforts.

He improvised an extension cord for an electric drill he carried with him by tearing out wires of the school's public address system and splicing them together.

Then he bored three holes in the door of the vault with his drill but still wasn't able to get the vault open.

After ransacking the office and apparently finding nothing he wanted, he left.

Korea Cools West Europe's Neutrality Sentiment; Red 'Peace Petition' Begins to Lose Its Appeal

RED SMEARS in the Kremlin'e "peace campaign," like this writing on a wall in Rome, no longer seem to convince West Europe.

By LEON DENNEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

ROME—(NEA)—Events in Korea have made West Europeans realize that if war comes it will not be between the United States and Soviet Russia alone.

On a swing through France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Denmark and Italy which I have just completed, I found that pro-neutrality sentiments and the spirit of defeatism are slowly giving way to a spirit of resistance. Soviet tactics in the UN Security Council seem to have awakened people I talked to in those countries to the fact that the enemy is right on their doorsteps.

After the initial reverses suffered by UN troops in Korea, it was easy for the Cominform to convince the middle-of-the-road European that "it was lost anyway" and that "anything is better than war." Moscow's "Stockholm petition for outlawing the atom bomb" was regarded with favor even by elements opposed to Communism.

* * *

The Kremlin's "peace" campaign is still going at top speed. Rome, Paris and other West European cities are more than ever smothered in posters showing the Communist peace dove about to be swallowed by a vulture labeled United States. But in the face of UN's determined stand in Korea the "Stockholm petition" is beginning to lose its appeal.

This new spirit of resistance is especially evident in Italy. Taking a leaf out of the Communist book, the government of Premier Alcide de Gasperi, obviously inspired by the Vatican, has organized in many cities and villages "Civic Committees" for the purpose of combatting Communist propaganda.

The government also has founded training schools for Christian "activists" patterned on the "Catholic Action" in France, Belgium, Holland and elsewhere.

For the first time in post-war Europe Communist propaganda is being countered effectively. The de Gasperi government, I am reliably informed, is preparing for a showdown with Italy's large Communist fifth column.

At the same time, Italy's weak treaty-limited army is being geared for war. The present 10 skeleton divisions of 175,000 men are rapidly being increased to the maximum total of 250,000 allowed by the peace treaty. This will raise the army to a total of 12 full divisions as against 40 satellite and Soviet divisions reportedly concentrated on the Yugoslav and Austrian borders.

Aware that neighboring Yugoslavia may be the next victim on Moscow's schedule, Italy is also fortifying her northern borders. To meet the threat of the Cominform's secret commando squads known to be concentrated in northern Italy, the Minister of Interior its now forming its own guerilla detachments.

* * *

Should the Red Army attack Yugoslavia and invade Italy it will be met by an army not sanctioned by the peace treaty.

Hopelessly outnumbered and as yet lacking modern arms, the Italians are nevertheless getting ready to fight.

"Peace or war do not depend on us alone," Mario Scelba, Italian Minister of Interior, recently told a Congress of young Catholic labor organizations. But we can contribute to save the one and impede the other. The nation which uses armed force to achieve its political ends can understand no other language than force."

Italy, he said, is strengthening her armed force "for both internal and external defense."

No Evidence Enemy Been Weakened

Such is View of Hal Boyle, an AP Correspondent

By Hal Boyle

TOKYO, Sept. 9—(AP)—Seventy-five days after fighting broke out in Korea, the United Nations force still can play only the role of fireman.

It hasn't as yet been able to take the first real forward step toward carrying out its announced intention of acting as a policeman to enforce peace in "the land of morning calm."

That is the blunt truth today, nearly eleven weeks after the battle for Korea began. And it must be faced bluntly by those groups of easy optimists both here and at home who blithely talk of having the war over "by Thanksgiving."

This bland confidence can be based only on two things:

1. A blind hope that the North Koreans have been so worn down by battle attrition and air and naval bombardment that their front will collapse.

2. A belief that the United Nations soon will throw into action a tremendous ground force able by sheer weight of men and metal to overwhelm the enemy quickly.

Unfortunately, there is no trustworthy evidence along the battle front that the enemy is weakening. He appears, if anything, to be getting stronger. And there is as yet no sign here that the United Nations has massed—and ready—enough muscle to end the war in a single mighty knock-out blow.

The sad truth is that the Reds still are conducting a siege perilous. Since the Allies withdrew to the Naktong river line on Aug. 1 the Communists have been able almost at will to start a major fire anywhere they chose along that 120-mile defensive perimeter. And they have done so.

Still Blazes Furiously

Time after time it has taken the utter strength of the United Nations fire department to clang up and stamp out or try to contain these blazes.

The last big bonfire ranged from the southern sector by the Korean straits clear around the battlefront to Pohang on the Japan Sea. That fire is still burning dangerously.

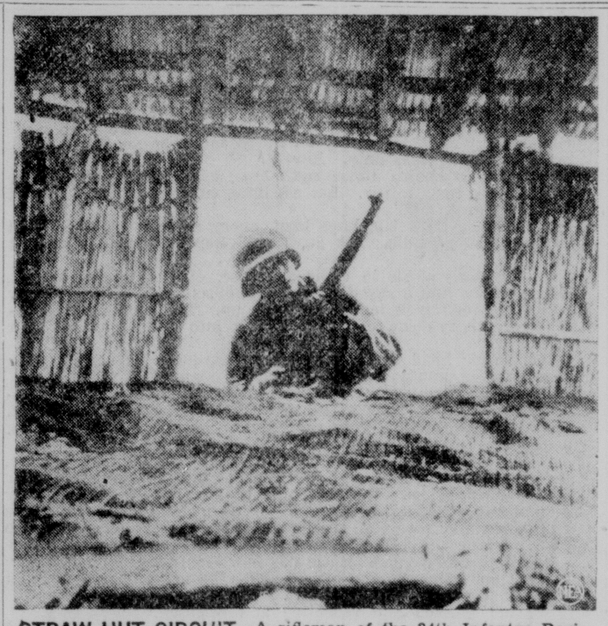

In some cases the UN fire department itself has been all but engulfed by the bandit arsonists from the north. And the men who serve in it no longer have the comfortable delusion that the Reds are anywhere near running out of matches.

They would like to believe they could quit being a fire department tomorrow, organize as a "police force," destroy or capture the invaders—and retire to the ordinary civil strife of life at home before the rice paddies here freeze over.

But there has been no faltering of the enemy to console those who feel this will be merely a war for the sunshine soldier and the summer patriot.

On both sides it is growing in depth and bitterness.

It may have a wintry decision or—as some veteran combat officers fear—the final outcome may be postponed until spring or even next summer.

Two Injured as Autos Collide

Two were injured, but not seriously, in an accident at Sixteenth street and Highway 65 (Limit avnnue) about 7:45 o'clock Friday morning in a collision of two automobiles. Both cars were badly damaged.

Mrs. Neva Robinson, La Monte, a passenger in a 1941 Ford coach, driven by Edwin Breshears, 22, La Monte, received a laceration over the left eye, believed to have been caused from glasses she was wearing at the time of the accident. Cecil Bucholz, La Monte, 35, a passenger in the car, had an injury to his left knee.

Breshears was headed south on Highway 65, and a 1950 Pontiac sedan driven by Rolla Cordes, 40, 1007 South Massachusetts avenue, was moving west on Sixteenth street when the accident occurred. The front end of the Ford was smashed in and the right side of the Pontiac from the front door back was smashed as was the right rear wheel.

Mrs. Robinson was taken to the Bothwell hospital in the police car, where she was treated by Dr. Carl Siegel.

Hamlin's wrecker took the Ford to his service station, while Chamberlin's wrecker towed the Pontiac to the Cal Rodgers garage.

U. S. Prestige In Europe Reaches Low Ebb

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON. — Unpublished intelligence reports reaching Washington from various parts of the world tell a depressing story of lowered American military prestige as a result of Korea.

Confidential reports from friendly British sources bear this out. The British embassies in France, Belgium and Holland, for instance, report that in case of war with Russia those countries probably would not fight. Our own embassies substantiate this.

Even the published reports tell a story that is bad enough. From Paris the Associated Press reports: "The crisis in Korea has brought the American position in France to a low point. . . . There has been a wave of dismay at American reverses. . . . It is staggering to hear Frenchmen talk about capitulation (to Russia)."

And in Germany, where most Americans have blithely figured we could raise a German army to support us, comes the opposite note from our best friend, Chancellor Adenauer, who says that Germans need American troops to support them, rather than German troops to support the U.S.A.

"Until now," says the chancellor, "Germany maintained its spirit against the spread of communism by faith in the American armed forces. But events in Korea have had a noticeable effect, and there is a sense of helplessness that the Russians will take over.

"American troops in Germany, therefore, should be increased by three more divisions in three months, with a total of 10 divisions later."

The above is a cross-section of reaction from our friends in Western Europe. Intelligence reports from areas less friendly, such as the Arab states and the Orient, are far worse.

Military Mistakes

Precedent in the War and Navy departments has been against prying into military mistakes. After previous wars, the files dealing with military blunders have been locked up. A dozen or so high-ranking U.S. generals were "busted" in the European theatre during World War II, but only fragmentary facts concerning the boners ever leaked out. And in the Pacific, MacArthur exercised even tighter censorship regarding certain errors, including his own still unexplained error in letting all his planes get destroyed at Clark Field shortly after Pearl Harbor.

In the Korean crisis, however, congressional sentiment is growing for a forthright examination of our military errors and woeful lack of preparedness. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, himself a naval commander in the Pacific, has been tentatively picked as the committee chairman to do the probing, and here are some of the things he will be asked to examine:

1. LACK OF TROOP TRAINING — MacArthur had the biggest segment of American troops under him in Japan. They were on a war footing, with plenty of time for maneuvers. Yet all reports from the battle front indicate that his troops were softer, greener, less prepared than troops trained in the U.S.A.

2. BAZOOKAS—It was known at the end of War II that Russian tanks were powerfully armed. It was also known that our 4-inch bazookas were inadequate. Yet we sent men into battle with these same almost useless bazookas. This was sheer murder. The military had five years to prepare a new type of bazooka, but none were on deck in Japan when the Korean war broke. It is reported that heavy orders placed for the smaller bazooka and not countermanded toward the end of the war is part of the answer. These factories just kept on making useless bazookas.

3. TANKS—During most of War II U.S. tanks were inferior to German tanks, while the Russians publicly chided us regarding the lend-lease tanks we sent them. After the war we junked thousands of our own tanks, apparently without making any serious attempt to develop a tank that could meet the Russians. In brief, the Pentagon planners were woefully asleep.

4. AIR FORCE—MacArthur had the largest chunk of U.S. air power to be found anyplace in the world when the Korean war started. But for many agonizing days at the start, 70 per cent of his planes were kept on the ground. This was not due to bad weather alone, but to the fact that MacArthur feared a Russian air strike at Japan. Many military men disagreed with him on this, pointing out that planes over Korea required only an hour to get back to defend Japan, and that time in the Korean war was priceless.

5. SLOW TROOP MOVEMENT—In the first weeks of Korean fighting, troops moved from Japan to Korea with tragic slowness. From Japan to Korea is only 120 miles—the distance to Philadelphia from Washington—but at that crucial time when we had more bases in Korea, troops moved in driblets. MacArthur's excuse was that he feared a Russian attack on Japan, though many in Washington argued that Moscow would never risk our atom bomb and a world war by attacking Japan.

6. TOP OFFICERS—The U.S. Air Force commander in Japan is Gen. George Stratemeyer, who occupied a relatively noncombat berth during the war in the China-India theatre. He is not a skilled tactical commander but, despite this, the Air Force has kept him on in Korea—some explain because he has the knack of getting along with MacArthur.

Gen. Walton Walker, MacArthur's ground force commander, though seeing important European service under Patton, is not considered one of the Army's top men. In Japan he was noted for having the best house in the Tokyo-Yokohama area, having commandeered it from the head of Standard Oil and refused to relinquish it. Americans who lunched with him were awed by the general's luxurious surroundings, including the fact that eight Geisha girls stood bowing at the door as the guests entered, not lifting their heads until the guests had passed.

The old jungle commanders who brought MacArthur's troops up from the southwest Pacific and who are skilled in the current type of Korean fighting are not with hm anymore; and at least one of them, Gen. Robert Eichelberger, hero of Buna, has made it quite clear that he would not care to serve under MacArthur again.

Inquiring Senators feel that the lives of hundreds of heroic G.I.'s and combat officers could have been saved by more planning, more preparedness, and more forthrightness at the top.

Poorly Written Controls Bill Illustrates 'Politics-as-Usual'

By Bruce Biossat

Take a "little war," mix in healthy portions of politics from both the White House and Capitol Hill, and you get a patched-up economic controls bill like the one just enacted.

There can't be any quarrel with the provisions that would slap limits on consumer installment and housing credit and would channel essential materials into war industries.

But the features dealing with rationing and price-wage controls are something else. They belong in the realm of what the psychologists call "escape literature." They take us away from reality rather than plunge us into it.

First of all, these particular powers are handed to the President on a standby basis only until next June 30. Except in dire emergency, it doesn't seem likely he'd go to the trouble of setting up a new OPA even on a restricted scale, when it might be swept away in less than a year.

The new legislation authorizes the President to try first for voluntary control agreements from labor and industry. If he can't get the agreements or they don't do the job, then he can impose "selective" controls on particular industries.

Some lawmakers objected to this, declaring that only over-all controls will work. But in the limited emergency enforced by the Korean war, general ceilings may not be needed. Why insist on extra work and expense for nothing?

The "selective" idea is all right in principle. The trouble is, that as written into this legislation it contains a patent deception. The President is compelled to put a lid on wages in any field where he considers price ceilings necessary. Or at least, so it seems at first glance.

But a clause in the bill states specifically that the President shall ban pay raises "which he deems would require an increase in the price ceiling or impose hardships or inequities on sellers operating under the price ceiling."

What does this mean? Simply that whenever Mr. Truman feels that a wage boost would not compel a rise in the price ceiling, he can approve the pay hike. The discretion is his—not industry's or labor's. Thus the apparently iron-clad insistence that wage and price controls go together is an illusion.

Maybe that insistence is utterly impractical. What worker would be happy watching wages go up in uncontrolled fields while his pay is frozen? But if it is practical, why try to fool people? Why not concede that the President must have discretion in such matters?

Another bad feature: Any ceiling limits on farm commodities could not be set lower than parity prices for those products. This reflects the customary pressure from farm groups which Congress, in war and out, seems unable to resist.

Yet why should Congress rise above politics when the President himself fails to? It ill behooves him to complain about the expiration date or any other aspect of the price-wage controls in this legislation, because he didn't ask for these powers at all.

Before the Korean war, with the nation relatively more at peace and the economy under less strain, Mr. Truman repeatedly over a span of three years asked for standby powers. Perhaps because he was sure he wouldn't get them but would merely reap political benefit from proposing them. Now that a genuine emergency is here, he hasn't sought them. For this is 1950—election time.

Since the control powers probably won't be used, is anybody the loser? Only the American people, who once more have been treated to a show of shoddy politics when statesmanship should be the order of the day.

Ps. 37:1—11; 121

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL RELAXATION

We will use an exercise for relaxation given to us by an Occidental Ashram member who spends most of her time in a city school system teaching children and parents to relax.

1. Stand with arms over head, palms flat, and push hard against the ceiling, going up on tiptoe as far as you can. Then let arms go to side, limp. Repeat.

2. Sit in chair. Raise right arm, every muscle tight; the arm is very, very heavy. Let go, limp, to side. Repeat. Same with left arm.

3. Raise right leg, knee bent, every muscle tight—make it as heavy as possible. Let go, limp. Repeat. Same with left leg.

4. As you sit in chair sit loose, every muscle relaxed. Now you are like a rag doll, no stiff muscles; your limp. Your hands are resting in lap with palms up. The palms up represent receptivity—you're now receiving into every pore of your being.

5. Your head falls on your chest, your eyes closed, your jaws relaxed and loose, mouth partly open.

6. Now turn your head over to the left and make a complete circle, as far back as possible; to the right, back on chest, limp. Repeat, making your nose like a piece of chalk inscribing a circle as large as possible.

7. Now I am seated, in imagination, on a quiet hillside, before me a calm lake and strong silent hills beyond with their cloud-veiled peaks. The trees lift their arms in silent prayer and absorb, absorb the strength of God. The grass also lifts its blades and receives, receives. Everything receives, and so do I. I breathe in God's peace and breathe out his calm: peace—calm, peace—calm; a gentle rhythm. In every portion of my being I am taking in the life of God—the life of God—so I am at rest, at rest, in God, in God.

I am relaxed and receptive and released.

My Father, gently and quietly I breathe Thy calm and Thy peace into every portion of my being. My fever is gone in the great quiet of God. I am receptive in every fiber and every tissue. The healing of God goes through me, through me. I am grateful, grateful. Amen.

Music Modes

Starting today as Mr. Goshen's Uptown theater, is a very widely discussed picture. It's adapted from a noval and bears the same title, "Young Man With a Horn," by Dorothy Baker. Modes has pawed its way through the entire bulk or florid fiction and now that the cover is closed and the story is over we wait to view Kirk Douglas fake his way across the silver screen with a noteless trumpet tossed to his lips.

These are the same lips that were battered, split and bloodied in "Champion." This is a real paradox, since a trumpeter's lips are his livelihood. . . .Where were we . . . oh yes.

There is one mysterious question that lies on the page before page one in the book. It says here in this copy: "The inspiration for the writing of this book has been the music, but not the life, of a great musician, Leon (Bix) Beiderbecke, who died in the year 1931."

Note to Mrs. Dorothy Baker: Uncork the other ear and let the knowledge seep in that you missed a great opportunity to immortalize Bix for all of your many disappointed readers. It would be a tribute to one of jazzdom's finest, but lo and behold we go off the track and get the story of a guy who is a mere figment of a lush imagination. The guy in the book "Rick Martin," would lead you to believe the boy blew sixteen bars of "When the Saints Go Marching By" while he held a nippled bottle in his other hand. T'ain't so. The book carries a critic's comment of "so and so" . . . To bring this blissful essay up to date; The author missed the train.

Every jazz fan knows Bix as a legend, a little guy with green-silver horn with his slicked downed haid and wearing a rented tux. The true story of Bix's life, but only part, can be read and believed in a volume entitled "The Stardust Road" by Hoagy Carmichael. Hoagy and Bix were close friends and played important influences in each other's life.

The picture is a little late getting here in Sedalia, but now that's it's here we want to see it and find out what the film men have done. We said that trumpet Kirk Douglas is craftily juggling around in "noteless." The brazen brass for the poetry was furnished by movie-musician Harry James. Doris Day is also along for vocals, presumably, as well as multitude of others.

"Bix lifted his horn to his lips, paused . . . blew and angels threw away their harps, "in a fit of glee."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the fifteenth of a question-and-answer series that tells how the Korean war affects reservists, veterans, draft-age men, and anyone likely to be called to service. The author, a member of the Washington staff of NEA Service, conducted a widely-read column on "Your GI Rights" in the months following World War II. He will answer questions only in this space, not by mail.)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. Does an officer in the Public Health Service who is called up to active duty have his job rights guaranteed to him when he is discharged?

A. Yes.

Q. I don't have a commission in any service but I received dental school training under the Army Specialized Training Program. Am I eligible to receive a commission in the Air Force?

A. Yes. You can get an application blank from the Surgeon General, Headquarters, U.S. Air Force, Washington, 25, D.C., or from the nearest Air Force base.

Q. I have been in the foreign service up until recently, serving out of the country. I didn't register for the draft because I was exempt. Must I do so now?

A. Yes.

Q. If I decide I want to go to the draft board after my physical and explain to them that I'm not going to school full time because I can't afford to, and must work part time, is there a chance they might defer me on educational grounds?

A. The regulation states that you must be a full-time student enrolled in an accredited school in order to qualify for a deferment. However, the draft board has the authority to make special decisions on individual cases.

Q. What's the minimum length of time a woman reserve can volunteer for in the WAC?

A. One year.

Q. Are medical service corps officers likely to be called up before their units?

A. No. All medical service corps officers and enlisted personnel assigned to all types of units will be called to active duty with their units.

The Doctor Says—

Slow Rebuilding of Arches May Help Victims of Flat Feet

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Few if any of the primitive people who walk barefoot on the comparatively soft soil suffer with flat feet. Flat feet seem to be an ailment of civilized human beings who wear shoes—often poorly fitted—and perhaps walk very little, and when they do, almost entirely on hard pavement.

Whatever the causes of flat feet, they often produce pain and are probably responsible for a good deal of fatigue in people who do not recognize the fact that their feet are causing it. The pain or discomfort is not always confined to the feet themselves but may be shown by a feeling of strain or discomfort in the calves or even higher up in the legs.

There are two principal arches in the feet. One runs the length of the foot between the base of the big toe and the heel. This portion of the foot should be off the floor when the feet are bare. The other arch runs crossways between the base of the big toe and the combined base of the little toe and the one next to it. A broken or relaxed long arch is often noticed and easily recognized. A fallen arch crossways is less often identified. What frequently happens is that a callous forms where the broken cross arch comes in contact with the shoe and this is an almost sure sign of difficulty with that part of the foot.

As is true with so many things about the human body, it is better to prevent flat feet than to try to cure them. To do this it is particularly important to watch the feet of our children, and particularly the fitting of their shoes. Shoes that are too tight are harmful and yet children's feet grow so fast that it is often difficult to keep up with them. Also, children should be watched to see that they walk in a normal manner and not with their toes turned too far in or out. It probably is not practical for all children—but it would often be good for their feet—if they could walk barefoot in the summer. (Caution: Children who do go barefoot should be given tetanus or lockjaw shots and should be warned to be careful where they step.)

Special Exercises

Much can be done for the child or grownup who actually has flat feet. Usually the treatment involves a careful and slow rebuilding of the arches. This is frequently done by adding slowly layer after layer of thin felt inside the shoe at the proper places. Of course the shoe itself has to be carefully fitted and often a bar is placed on the outside of the shoe under the instep.

Patients with flat feet are also often given special exercises such as grasping the edge of a rug with their toes, or walking around the room in their stockinged feet on the outside edges of the feet. Sometimes they are also given contrast foot baths; that is, placing their feet alternately in very warm and cold water in order to stimulate the circulation.

All this sounds like a lot of trouble but a great many have found it worthwhile and have relieved serious discomfort in their feet, and often have felt much better generally, as a result of a few months' attention to this important part of the anatomy.

If There Was a Test We Have an Answer

The FORMER MISS FREY

By Edwin Rutt

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Although the former Ede Frey had never been forgiven for eloping with the fortune hunting Peter Flood, her father, Cornelius Frey, sends for her from his deathbed. There is no full reconciliation, but Cornelius surprises Ede by saying that she is to take care of "the whole bunch," meaning her two brothers, Jeffrey and Myron, and her 19-year-old sister Jenn.

* * *

VI

CORNELIUS FREY'S voice became softer. "Listen, Ede," he said, "there are just two things I've loved in life aside from whatever latent affection I've had for you brats.

"First, your mother. Before she died, I promised her I'd see that you children had the things you wanted. I don't think I've kept that promise very well. In your case, Ede, I failed. But I didn't like that Pete Flood business and I blew up. I thought, though, that you'd come crawling back home some day. You've too much character for that. I should have known better. You'd stick to a bargain if it killed you, just as I would." Something of a sigh escaped the dying man's lips. "But I wish you had. Things aren't right with you."

Ede bit her lip. No keeping anything from this shrewd father of hers.

"But," continued Cornelius, "you'll have to work out your own problems. The point is that I want you to look out for the others as well, seeing that you have a few grains of sense in spite of marrying Peter Flood.

"And that brings me to my other love—the business, Ede. Now I could easily have followed your mother's wishes by settling trust funds on all of you and letting it go at that. You'd have been taken care of and imbeciles, like Jeff and Myron, would never have starved. But I don't do things that way. Don't believe in it. I took the money I inherited and I doubled it. I built up my business and, dead or alive, I want it to go on. And I want it to stay in my own family. "But"—Ede could almost feel, as well as see, the gray eyes burning at her—"there's only one of you with brains enough to carry it on. That's you, Ede."

"But, Dad," Ede was aghast, "I don't know beans . . ."

* * *

CORNELIUS'S mouth worked in annoyance. "Don't interrupt me. Of course, you don't know anything about the advertising business. But you've got a head, haven't you? You can learn. And there's a man in the agency—Reagan—who can help you."

"But what will Jeff and Myron—"

"Fiddlesticks! They've nothing to say about what I do with my own business. And what I'm doing is giving it to you. I'm giving you 51 per cent of the stock, a controlling interest. Jeff and Myron have the rest, because I want it all in the family. In Jenn's case, I've made a trust fund. I don't believe in that rot, mind you. But she's a child and I don't know what else to do about her."

Ede murmured, "You were very sensible."

"I'm usually sensible. All this is in my will, in black and white. It's unalterable. I saw to that. And let me tell you something else, Edith Frey. You hang onto that 51 per cent! That business of mine is a good one and it'll take care of all of you. I've said nothing about the way profits are to be split. That's up to you, only don't make a fool of yourself. I want Jeff and Myron earning their way. And you, too. I'll not have you people lolling around on incomes that you don't lift a finger to make."

Ede's brain was whirling slightly. But she said, in a steady voice, "Very well, Dad. If that's the way you want it, I'll do my best."

"It won't be easy, Ede." Old Cornelius shook his head. "Things have been slipping lately. We've lost a couple of accounts and a couple of others are shaky. That's because I wasn't myself these last few months. I couldn't see to things properly. Reagan's done his best, but he couldn't save those accounts." He brooded. "Advertising agencies, the whole bunch of them, are like a pack of wolves. Let one slip a little and the others pounce on it, trying to grab what they can."

"Is it tiring you to talk so much, Dad?" Ede asked.

"It is. But there mayn't be another chance to talk."

"Then tell me about this man Reagan," said Ede.

"Ah," Cornelius fixed her with a penetrating stare. "I said you had brains. You know that you won't be able to rely on Jeff and Myron for anything, don't you? Well, I was coming to Reagan. He's a smart, hard-shooting Irishman. Right up out of the gutter, with his mind made up to go places. And he has. He's the best man I've got. He'll be a lot of help to you. Watch him though, Ede. Reagan's out for himself. But as long as you keep him under control, he'll be valuable. Well, that's all I've got to say and I'm tired now." His lined old face twisted in a sardonic grin. "I wish you luck, Edith. But remember, keep control. If you don't, you're licked."

* * *

EDE got up. She laid a cool firm hand on her father's forehead. "And about Peter, Dad," she said, gently. "You're not still—still sore about that, are you?"

"I don't know," said Cornelius resignedly. "I suppose, now that I'm using you for a purpose of my own, I'll have to pay for it by forgiving you, in part. I say, 'in part,' mind you. I never forgive—entirely. Some day, though, you'll see that I was right. That fellow's no good. You've got brains. Ede, but not as many as I have. If you had, you'd have seen it for yourself long ago."

Ede left him then. It was the last time she saw her father alive.

Underwriters At Luncheon

Hear Address On Social Security Law Revisions

The Sedalia Life Underwriters met at the Hotel Bothwell Friday at a noon luncheon. The following guests attended. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schick, Mr. Schick is an assistant manager of the Kansas City branch of the New York Life Insurance company. Mrs. Schick will become a general agent for the New York Life here in Sedalia in the very near future. John Zander, secretary of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, and Oliver Steed, comptroller at Town and Country Shoe were also guests.

"Bob" Sherman, associated with the Equitable Life of New York and James Harms with the New England Mutual were admitted as new members.

The Underwriters changed their meeting day from the first Saturday in each month to the first Friday.

Abe Silverman, program chairman for the month of September, enlisted the services of Scott Webber to discuss the revisions in the Social Security Law. Mr. Webber in discussing the major changes informed the group the new benefits would include ten million additional persons, including such individuals as full time domestics and full time farm workers.

Non-profit organizations and employees of state and local governments, will also be included in the new group. He devoted considerable discussion to the increased benefits and the manner in which requirements could be attained.

He further pointed out that an amendment to the "Working Clause" had been made which allows a Social Security beneficiary to earn up to $50.00 a month without suspending benefits.

Mr. Webber's discussion was exceptionally interesting and extremely valuable to the Underwriters as a group.

Hair Expert Asserts That Our Girls Are Getting Baldness

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeature Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—(AP)—Hold on to that toupee, Mister. Your wife might want to borrow it.

It seems the girls are getting balder all the time and—according to one hairdresser, Donu Edmond of New York, 30 per cent of American women are bald, or partially bald, right this very minute.

Edmond bases his startling figure on the fact that 20 per cent of his own women clients are in that predicament. He explains:

"I figure that if my clients, who are actresses, society and professional women, are in the balding stage, then certainly a much higher percentage of women who have not been able to afford conditioning treatments have lost their crowning glory."

Edmond is emphatic. "I want to emphasize," he said, "that my statement (on balding) is definitely and entirely correct."

The hairdresser, an Egyptian who says he was once personal beautician to Queen Marie of Romania, believes too many permanents on dirty heads contribute to the incidence of baldness."

Head as "Chimney"

"The head is the chimney of the body," he explains. "All the fumes go to the skull. If women insist on permanents without washing and conditioning their hair frequently, then they must suffer the consequence."

Edmond claims that often he is able with special treatments to encourage the hair to grow once more—if there are at least 15 hairs left in a square inch on the head—"but once an area becomes shiny bald, nothing will help.

More young girls have gray hair today than ever before, he has noticed. He doesn't know why this is, but he doesn't believe women can be attractive to men unless they keep their hair—and keep it youthful looking.

Older women are more conscious of graying hair, he says. Many women bring in their teenage daughters to have their hair matched to daughter's so it won't be so noticeable that mother's has been dyed.

Edmond says that only women of luxury who can sport minks or sables should wear extreme shades. "It's the difference between looking like Park avenue and adance hall hostess," he said.

The Kitten Knew Best

CHICAGO—(AP)—During a heat wave a kitten squirmed into a narrow space between two buildings in suburban Glenn Elyn. Its cries attracted a crowd. When all else failed, a fireman extricated the cat with a hook attached to a long pole.

Two days later the kitten was back in the same trap. A policeman, using the same tool, fished it out again. But within 48 hours it was in the tight spot again. Chief of Police Lee Brierton made a personal survey of the situation. He peered in the small opening, felt a cool breeze on his face and called off rescue work. The kitten, he decided, was in the most comfortable place in the neighborhood.

Israel Fears A Crisis in Her Economy

TEL AVIV, Israel — There is a lot of talk going around that Israel is heading for an economic crisis. One thing is certain — living conditions are getting worse.

Skimpy food is getting skimpier. Clothing and footwear have just been added to an already lengthy ration list. Prices are climbing. Wages are lagging far behind the cost of living. Strikes are becoming more frequent.

The best of whatever this country produces is shipped abroad to earn hard currency. Everyone is restricted in his purchases. Israel's government chiefs are almost constantly warning that there's a tough winter ahead.

They say the answer to better conditions in a country which lives almost exclusively through foreign charity is more industrial and agricultural production.

At the moment, were the flow of dollars from American Jewry to Israel cut off, there would be ample basis for speculation as to how long the state would last. Even the dollars from the United Jewish Appeal and other organizations appear to be falling far short of what the country must have. The suggestion has been advanced by American Jewish leaders that a popular loan should be sought in the United States.

Rents are reasonable — government controlled. But an apartment sometimes costs thousands of dollars just to move in. That's the price a tenant exacts as "key money" to move out.

Lots of people are losing weight. Thus far, the health standard has remained fairly high, but the usual complaint is, after any meal, "I'm still hungry." "Fish" has become one of the most hated words — because it's on every menu, every day.

Under clothes rationing, a woman will be lucky to get one good new dress per year. The same goes for men's suits. Generally speaking, every Israeli can buy one pair of shoes per year.

It's not unusual for a woman to pay $40 to $60 for a dress that could be picked up for one-fourth the price in an American store. A man's suit costs $140 up. Blouses and shirts run around $10 up.

Toilet soap is now limited to one bar per person per two months — and some stores do not have any for weeks at a time. Black market vendors in the streets collect from 56 to 70 cents per bar. All kinds of paper are extremely difficult to obtain.

Israelis are wild about the movies. A fair seat costs $1.20. There are plenty of concerts, but these aren't cheap, either. You can get a glass of weak, watery beer for about 35 cents. Israeli manufactured cigarettes cost 62 cents per package. The imported brands, particularly American, cost from 76 to 92 cents per package. A martini cocktail runs around $1.10.

American newspapers and many other foreign publications have disappeared from newsstands. Newsdealers say they lack foreign exchange.

Many Israelis earn only 40 pounds ($112) per month. That includes typists and other office workers. A good laborer gets about three pounds (8.40) per day. He can easily spend that much on a few drinks and a meal.

Officials say the nation's lopsided economy can't get healthy by depending on handouts indefinitely. Imports in 1949 were valued at $243,600,000. Exports were around $29,000,000.

Israelis are trying hard to narrow the gap. Imports the first quarter of 1950 were $92,708,000. Exports were about $20,000,000. The latter figure represented a 15.9 per cent rise over the corresponding period of 1949.

The economic strain is steadily increasing. Four hundred and twenty thousand Jewish immigrants have arrived here since Israel was set up in 1948. All have to be housed, clothed and fed. They're continuing to come at the rate of 15,000 monthly.

Jews here can expect to eat still less and have less so that the new ones will have enough to get along until they are absorbed and become a productive factor in industry or agriculture.

It's also clear that Israel needs more money, and badly. The government is closing the gate wherever possible against the outgo of any foreign exchange. Military needs are adding to the load.

Rescue Injured Pilot

Lt. Nathan E. Curry, of Lexington, Mo., winces in pain from burns as his raft is lifted to the deck of a U. S. destroyer off the North Korean port of Wonsan. Curry, a Task Force 77 Corsair pilot, was shot down by flak during an attack on Wonsan shipping. Fellow pilots radioed the patrolling destroyer for help and Curry was picked up after 2½ hours in the water. Seaman is unidentified. (U. S. Navy Photo via AP Wirephoto)

Texas Tech to Teach Business "Comportment"

LUBBOCK—(AP)—The clash of yellow and orange on a job applicant's necktie might influence the man's future more than his technical skill—and the Texas Tech division of business administration wants to do something about it.

Dean George G. Heather says personnel managers and businessmen are more critical of the personal traits of the collegiate job-hunter than his know-how. Tech will offer a new course this fall —Business Comportment—which aims to take the rough edges off the applicant and give him poise in the business world.

Industrial managers and business leaders will speak to the classes as a supplement to regular lectures.

Teacher Sends Peace Letter To Stalin

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Sept. 9 — (AP) — A Warrensburg school teacher—"unknown except in my own community"—sent a letter to Premier Stalin of Russia today asking him to help "restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people."

The writer, Miss I. F. Johnson, described herself as "a sincere worker for ultimate world peace through the United Nations and the UNESCO" (United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization). She said she sent a copy of the letter to President Truman.

"I have battled against the urge to write this letter for more than a year," she wrote, "but the time has come when I cannot keep silence. Your nation and mine are in the death throes of another war, whatever you may choose to call it.

"Let me plead with you, and our own president, to sit down together with a determination and faith that you can and will stop this murder of innocent people, and with the willingness to make reasonable concessions that will restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people.

"Let's find modern means of settling our grievances against each other, not the century old pattern of war.

"Our nations are the leaders of the world today. Let us prove to the world that we are worthy of that leadership by letting all nations of people make their own decision as to what they believe. Let us sponsor an honest education effort to help men and women throughout the world to know what real freedom means. Let's work together for the good of all.

"What have we to gain by destroying each other?"

Miss Johnson told Stalin:

"You have a right to your ideas and I have a right to mine. Neither of us though has the right to force other people to accept those ideas. They must honestly believe them."

She suggested that an effort should be made to make the United Nations "a real instrument for world peace, seeking our solutions by honest reasoning rather than by trying to vie with each other in making more horrible means of destruction."

Forfeited Bonds on Nine Parking Tickets

In the police court Friday George Ridenour, 121½ East Main street, forfeited a nine-dollar cash bond representing nine overtime parking tickets for overtime parking. Seven other overtime parking bonds of one-dollar each were ordered forfeited by Judge Jerry Trotter.

A stipulation of settlement was filed in circuit court after which the action was dropped.

Finland Sneezes Go On And On

HELSINKI, Finland—(AP)—Finland is not to be sneezed at when it comes to sneezing. A man named Pelkonen, of Tampere, Finland, has been sneezing for half of his 40 years—not without interruption, to be sure. For two or three days, maybe a week, he is normal. Then it starts, and he sneezes, 1,500-2,000 times a day. The sneezing is accompanied by a bad headache and some fever.

Dr. Eric Nyberg, of the Helsinki hospital, explained that Pelkonen a metal-worker, appears to enjoy generally good health, but the sneezing recurs without fail—and Pelkonen returns to hospital.

There he is put to bed and given "asthma" treatment. The affliction, the doctor said, is an allergy, a form of nasal catarrh, caused by the veins in the nose.

8-FOOT FIELD CULTIVATOR

Matches WD Tractor Power

Here's an outfit that's hard to beat for renovating pastures, alfalfa and lespedeza stands, for killing grass and weeds, and for tilling summer fallow land . . . in addition to seedbed preparation.

This 8-foot field cultivator is automatically controlled by the WD Tractor hydraulic system—finger-tip depth control. Wheel spacing — easily adjusted with engine power — permits setting of wheels for stability and even penetration on rough or rolling land; reduces "gouging" and "scratching."

Compact design simplifies work in corners, small areas and right up to fence lines. Heavy-duty, all-steel construction.

Now you can have a field cultivator that is designed and built for modern tractor power. Stop in and see it.

Korea Soldiers Slated to Get Vet's Benefits Question Is How Far to Extend the GI Rights

MARCHING OFF TO WAR, these Marines—and others like them headed for Korea—will soon get a chance at GI benefits.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Congress is now preparing to extend veterans benefits to the men who are fighting in Korea.

The powerful national veterans organizations have their full weight behind it. And congressmen admit that something must be done about the matter very soon.

In general it is predicted that Korean combat veterans will be given just about the same GI Bill of Rights benefits provided World War II vets. But there are some ticklish questions yet to be settled. They involve committing the U. S. Treasury to annual expenditures of hundreds of millions of dollars for many years to come.

* * *

The key questions are these:

Should the benefits be limited to those men who actually see action in Korea?

Should benefits be given to all men who might serve in the Korean theater, but who might not see combat action?

Should benefits be extended to all men who enlist or who are drafted in connection with the Korean crisis?

Veterans Administration gives a rough estimate of $31,000,000 for providing 10,000 veterans with rehabilitation and GI bill benefits. The President has authorized the drafting of 185,000 men for this year.

If all of these men are given benefits, as they were during World War II, the bill will be $573.5 million. Without an official declaration of war, however, there are precedents for limiting benefits to only those men who see action in Korea.

* * *

Practically all of the 15-odd bills which have already been introduced would limit benefits to those men actually in combat. Also they all prohibit the "pyramiding" of benefits. In other words, men in the service who have already used some veterans benefits from World War II service can't get more benefits from Korean service.

The World War II benefits not now extended to Korean vets, but which probably will be soon, include vocational and rehabilitation training, total non-service-connected disability pensions, privilege of hospitalization in VA institutions for non-service-connected disablements, education and home and business loan benefits, $20 unemployment compensation for a year, automobiles for amputees, mustering out pay and homestead preference.

There is sentiment for letting one World War II benefit be added to a Korean vet's rights That's vocational and rehabilitation training for any World War II vet who took some other GI training but who might be disabled fighting the Reds.

* * *

Another extra benefit which the American Legion is expected to press for is the granting of an automatic National Life Insurance Policy of $5000 for a period of 120 days. This would give all men in Korea, who hadn't already taken advantage of it, a chance to buy GI insurance.

Many men fighting in Korea now don't have the insurance because they didn't think they'd need it, and didn't get a chance to get it after being ordered to Korea.

Even without special Congressional action, however, the men who will be veterans of the Korean fighting are not without some benefits. Those who suffer injury or disease are entitled to disability compensation at full war-time rates. Dependents of those killed in action get death compensation benefits. A widow without children gets $75 a month. It's $30 more for the first child and $25 more for each additional child.

Men totally disabled are eligible to have the GI insurance premiums waived, if their total disability lasts six consecutive months or longer.

Accident Case Is Continued

The case of Charles H. Bolton, 400 West Fifth street, charged with careless driving, was continued in police court Friday until September 15 by Judge Jerry Trotter on request of Bolton.

Bolton figured in an accident at Second street and Moniteau about 9:20 o'clock Thursday night.

Bolton was driving a 1941 Chevrolet sedan which car and a 1947 Chevrolet sedan driven by Mrs. Roy Wills, 201 South Grand avenue, collided at the intersection. Bolton was headed south on Moniteau and Mrs. Wills west on Second street when the accident occurred.

The front of Bolton's car was damaged while the right side of the Wills car was smashed in. Mrs. Wills received an injury to her right arm and to the knee.

Damage to Cars In a Collision

Damage resulted to two automobiles at Seventh street and Moniteau avenue about 5:00 o'clock Thursday evening, but occupants of both vehicles escaped injury.

The 1946 Dodge sedan driven by Mrs. James R. Hamilton, 907 East Broadway, was damaged on the front left fender and front bumper and the left front fender and bumper on a 1937 Ford sedan driven by Paul Allen, Lakeview Heights, Mo., was damaged when the cars collided.

Mrs. Hamilton was headed south on Moniteau and Allen was driving west on Seventh street, when the accident occurred.

Police made an investigation. No arrest was made.

Marshal Wavell Assails Modern Poets

LONDON — (AP) — Earl Wavell, poetry-loving field marshal, says English poetry is in a bad way nowadays. Speaking at the annual meeting of the London Library, he complained about "the dark, obscure, discordant mutterings which pass for poetry in these days."

"I do not believe the fire of poetry has really died out of us," he said, "but I do not think the flame is very strong at the moment."

The earl favors the old standbys of English poetry. He once compiled an anthology called "Other Man's Flowers."

Infant Hitchhiker

CHICAGO —(AP)— Mike Brasic drove away from his home and turned east in Fullerton Ave. Several strangers on the sidewalk waved to him. Brasic smiled and returned the greetings. He had covered a mile when a motorist pulled up beside him and shouted:

"You know what's on the back of your car?"

Brasic stopped, got out and looked. A three year old hitchhiker was perched on the rear bumper. It was Brasic's daughter, Cheryl.
